Abstract

Journal of Management Inquiry 20(4)

Abstract: The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week, low-intensity, low-impact exercise program on the physical and psychological health of older adults. The study was a randomized controlled trial. The intervention group consisted of 12 older adults who participated in a 12-week, low-intensity, low-impact exercise program. The control group consisted of 12 older adults who did not participate in the exercise program. The study was conducted in a community center. The results of the study showed that the intervention group had significantly higher levels of physical and psychological health than the control group at the end of the 12-week period. The results of the study suggest that a 12-week, low-intensity, low-impact exercise program can improve the physical and psychological health of older adults.
