Portals of Promise Debbie Pushor, the Parent Engagement Collaborative the Parent Engagement Collaborative, 2013-10-30 Working with parents is a significant aspect of educators roles yet it is rare to find curriculum in teacher education programs designed to prepare individuals to consider in philosophical theoretical and pedagogical ways who they will be in relationship with parents and why Schools therefore remain hierarchical structures in which parents are marginalized in relation to decisions affecting teaching and learning This book begins with Pushor s conceptualization of a curriculum of parents a curriculum which explores beliefs and assumptions about parents a vision for education in which educators work alongside parents and family members in the learning and care of children and a desire for reform She describes a curriculum of parents in the form of three graduate teacher education courses which she lived out in relationship with students Graduate students then capture their experiences immersed in this curriculum what they each took up how it shaped their knowledge attitudes and practices and how they lived it out as they returned to their classrooms schools and early learning centres This book is a storied account of their intense immersion in a curriculum of parents and the resulting impact living that curriculum has had on who they are in relation to parents and families It is an honest and vulnerable account of their shared and individual journeys They puzzle over the complexities and the successes of their work and the resulting impact This is not a book of best practice but an invitation to other educators to consider as they did what they do and how it could be different

University Community Engagement and Lifelong Learning Julia Preece, 2017-07-13 This book offers a conceptual rethink of how university community engagement functions as a lifelong learning resource for communities While having a specific focus on the South African context it has important implications for other universities which are concerned with their communities and makes a compelling argument for the university as a public good in spite of current trends towards marketization and commodification of higher education The book draws on a theoretical framework of capabilities asset based community development and the adult learning concept of dialogue to propose a model whereby the boundary walls of the university become metaphorically porous so that community members feel free to interact with the university as equal members of society A historical outline of African universities is provided as well as an exploration of the evolution of terms for community engagement service learning and learning cities and an examination of the policy and practice implications for the ideological model of a porous university
