Sequences and Their Applications - SETA 2014 Kai-Uwe Schmidt, Arne Winterhof, 2014-11-17 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 8th International Conference on Sequences and Their Applications SETA 2014 held in Melbourne VIC Australia in November 2014. The 24 full papers presented together with 2 invited papers were carefully reviewed and selected from 36 submissions. The papers have been organized in topical sections on Boolean functions, perfect sequences, correlation of arrays, relative difference sets, aperiodic correlation, pseudorandom sequences and stream ciphers, crosscorrelation of sequences, prime numbers in sequences, OFDM and CDMA and frequency hopping sequences.

Developing Mathematical Proficiency for Elementary Instruction Yeping Li, Roger E. Howe, W. James Lewis, James J. Madden, 2021-04-23 The need to improve the mathematical proficiency of elementary teachers is well recognized and it has long been of interest to educators and researchers in the U S and many other countries. But the specific proficiencies that elementary teachers need and the process of developing and improving them remain only partially conceptualized and not well validated empirically. To improve this situation, national workshops were organized at Texas A M University to generate focused discussions about this important topic with participation of mathematicians, mathematics educators and teachers. Developing Mathematical Proficiency for Elementary Instruction is a collection of articles that grew out of those exciting cross disciplinary exchanges. Developing Mathematical Proficiency for Elementary Instruction is organized to probe the specifics of mathematical proficiency that are important to elementary teachers during two separate but inter connected professional stages: as pre service teachers in a preparation program and as in service teachers teaching mathematics in elementary classrooms. From this rich and inspiring collection, readers may better understand and possibly rethink their own practices and research in empowering elementary teachers mathematically and pedagogically as educators or researchers.

Mathematics and Computing Debasis Giri, Ram N. Mohapatra, Heinrich Begehr, Mohammad S. Obaidat, 2017-04-14 This book constitutes the proceedings of the Third International Conference on Mathematics and Computing ICMC 2017 held in Haldia, India, in January 2017. The 35 papers presented in this volume were carefully reviewed and selected from 129 submissions. They were organized in topical sections named: security and privacy, computing, applied mathematics and pure mathematics. From Compliance to Learning Husein Abdul-Hamid, Sarah Mintz, Namrata Saraogi, 2017-04-13 From Compliance to Learning: A System for Harnessing the Power of Data in the State of Maryland builds on a 2015 World Bank report that assessed Education Management Information Systems (EMISs) in the state of Maryland. That report uncovered a successful system and this one expands on lessons learned and ways to apply them in practice. The goal of this study is to distill Maryland's good practices in education data systems and share them in a way that is useful to education stakeholders interested in harnessing the power of data to strengthen learning outcomes. This study also examines the history of education data collection and use in the United States with a focus on Maryland, including a review of federal and state legislation that has helped to shape Maryland's education data policies and systems. In the digital age, information is power. When information is effectively harnessed and aligned with student learning, it carries the potential to radically transform the delivery of education as well as the sector as a whole. Increasingly, education systems are moving away from using education data narrowly for compliance purposes; instead, they are embracing data as a tool to drive systemwide innovation, professionalization, and most importantly, learning. Whether to prioritize and optimize data and information systems around student learning is no longer an option; it is imperative for education systems that aim to excel and achieve strong learning outcomes. Over the past several decades, fundamental shifts have occurred in the way that education data are collected, managed, and used. Today, real-time learning data inform classroom instruction, predictive analytics identify at-risk youth before they drop out of school, and data from preschool to workforce are linked to help guide education reforms. These represent just a few of the innovative ways that schools and other stakeholders across the United States are harnessing data to improve education. The state's success in establishing an enabling environment for education data systems and data utilization has built a strong foundation. Maryland effectively aligned a complex statewide data system to deliver value. Prioritization of integration and alignment was key. The state then launched a longitudinal data system center that would drive an adaptive education system with insights that track students from pre-kindergarten to entry in the workforce. Data across the state are high quality and follow strict rules to preserve privacy and enhance security. Maryland's utilization of data also offers valuable lessons. The statewide data system supports policy makers and decision makers in planning and management as well as teachers, students, and families in instruction and learning. Consistent across Maryland's structuring and use of data systems were a strong vision and a road map to execute that vision. Maryland's journey offers many lessons, not only for countries with advanced data systems but also for those in less developed stages. While the technology and information exist to achieve data for learning, harnessing data within the right information system and ensuring utilization are challenging endeavors. An array of factors must align: leadership, policies, processes, and resources, to name a few, to effectively harness data to support and drive strong learning outcomes.

The Science of the Obvious R. Barker Bausell, 2017-09-11. This book poses and ultimately answers the question of whether the public schools would have been affected if no educational research had been conducted during this century. To answer this question, 12 genres of educational research are evaluated. The genres are accompanied by non-technical annotated synopses, examples of each. A case is made that the science of education as a whole is repetitive, non-cumulative, and is characterized by a circular rather than a linear trajectory.

Degree Theory and Symmetric Equations Assisted by GAP System Zalman Balanov, Wieslaw Krawcewicz, Dmitrii Rachinskii, Hao-Pin Wu, Jianshe Yu, 2025-01-30. Symmetries are a common feature of real-world phenomena in many fields, including physics, biology, materials science, and engineering. They can help understand the behavior of a system and optimize engineering designs. Nonlinear effects such as delays, nonsmoothness, and hysteresis can have a significant impact on the dynamics and contribute to the increased complexity of symmetric systems The goal of this book is to provide a complete theoretical and practical manual for studying a large class of dynamical problems with symmetries using degree theory methods To study the impact of symmetries on the occurrence of periodic solutions in dynamical systems special variants of the Brouwer degree the Brouwer equivariant degree and the twisted equivariant degree are developed to predict patterns regularities and symmetries of solutions Applications to specific dynamical systems and examples are supported by a software package integrated with the GAP system which provides assistance in the group theoretic computations involved in equivariant analysis This book is intended for readers with a basic knowledge of analysis and algebra including researchers in pure and applied mathematical analysis graduate students and scientists interested in areas involving mathematical modeling of symmetric phenomena The text is self contained and the necessary background material is provided in the appendices

Mathematical Models and Methods for Living Systems Luigi Preziosi,Pasquale Ciarletta,Thomas Hillen,Hans Othmer,Dumitru Trucu,2016-11-09 The aim of these lecture notes is to give an introduction to several mathematical models and methods that can be used to describe the behaviour of living systems This emerging field of application intrinsically requires the handling of phenomena occurring at different spatial scales and hence the use of multiscale methods Modelling and simulating the mechanisms that cells use to move self organise and develop in tissues is not only fundamental to an understanding of embryonic development but is also relevant in tissue engineering and in other environmental and industrial processes involving the growth and homeostasis of biological systems Growth and organization processes are also important in many tissue degeneration and regeneration processes such as tumour growth tissue vascularization heart and muscle functionality and cardio vascular diseases

The First Five Years of Teaching Mathematics (FIRSTMATH) Maria Teresa Tatto,Michael C. Rodriguez,Mark D. Reckase,Wendy M. Smith,Kiril Bankov,James Pippin,2020-04-24 This book reports on an innovative study into the first five years of mathematics teaching FIRSTMATH For the first time the study has developed a viable methodology to analyze the knowledge skills and dispositions of beginning mathematics teachers as well as instruments to explore the contexts where they work The book provides a step by step account of this exploratory proof of concept research study using a comparative and international approach and introduces readers to the challenges entailed The FIRSTMATH study promises the development of methods and strategies to make it possible for teacher educators and future teachers to examine and improve on their own practices in an important STEM area
