Persky,Brent A. Sandene,Janice M. Askew,1998 The last several years have seen a growing resolve among educators and policymakers to assure the place of a solid arts education in U S schools In 1997 the National Assessment of Educational Progress NAEP conducted a national assessment in the arts at grade 8 The assessment included the areas of music theater and visual arts For each of these arts areas this Report Card describes the achievement of eighth graders within the general population and in various subgroups Taken with the information provided about instructional and institutional variables this report gives a context for evaluating the status of students learning in the arts The arts assessment was designed to measure the content specifications described in the arts framework for NAEP The arts have a unique capacity to integrate intellect emotions and physical skills in the creation of meaning Meaningful arts assessments need to be built around three arts processes creating performing and responding To capture these processes the arts assessment exercises included authentic tasks that assessed students knowledge and skills and constructed response and multiple choice questions that explore students abilities to describe analyze interpret and evaluate works of art in written form Data are reported in overall summaries for creating performing and responding in terms of student and school reported background variables Student results for theater are discussed in terms of teacher reported background variables as well

The major findings of the assessment are that a large percentage of grade 8 students attend schools in which music and visual arts were taught usually by specialists most students attended schools in which instruction following district or state curricula was offered in music and visual arts but not in theater or dance and most visual arts and music instruction took place in school facilities that were dedicated to that subject JH Tests and Measurements in Music Jacob Kwalwasser,1927 Resources in Education ,1996-04 The Nature and Nurture of Learners Meryl Englander,2010-04-21 Prospective and in service teachers are the intended readers of this book Teaching involves much more than dispensing knowledge Teaching is a process of arranging activities that will enable individuals to learn and behave appropriately The appropriateness of the activities depends on the degree they interact with the status of the targeted individuals Just as physicians need to know about the nature of the human body and carpenters need to know about the nature of wood teachers need to know about the nature of people that is related to learning and behavior Thereby the focus of this text is the relevant personal characteristics the intellect motivation and sense of self each of which influence learning and behavior Research findings and models within educational psychology are used to define the relevant human personal characteristics In order to arrange meaningful activities teachers strive to achieve selected objectives The text identifies four broad objectives within which specific lesson objectives can be identified The objectives themselves and more particularly the proposed activities must be oriented around the personal characteristics of the targeted learners Age grade level ethnic background and gender are insufficient indicators of learner qualifications Relevant information for learning are within individual learners as exhibited through behavior Observations are the key indicators of learner readiness to learn The text recommends that students begin now to develop skills for identifying the status of learners and classroom conditions through interviews noting various classroom behaviors and analyzing the findings by developing portfolios Small group discussions are encouraged so that students can share skills in analyzing real problems and thereby develop habits and skills for working with colleagues The Dyslexia, ADHD, and DCD-Friendly Study Skills Guide Ann-Marie McNicholas,2020-01-21 This practical skills guide helps young people with who learn differently including those with dyslexia DCD dyspraxia and ADHD study for their exams Students who learn differently can often find exams challenging and can experience a good deal of anxiety around exam time leading to exam results that may not accurately reflect their capabilities Much exam stress arises from a lack of confidence with the ability to learn and retain information in a meaningful way This engaging workbook is designed to help students to overcome these issues It not only shows students how to develop a positive success attitude towards study and exams but also aims to equip them with powerful strategies and techniques for learning and remembering The book offers strategies for learners whose methods of learning are multisensory When learning is active rather than passive it happens faster and is easier more enjoyable and more effective As you progress through the fun engaging activities so your confidence and belief in your ability to learn will increase Struggling students will become confident successful learners with a positive attitude and access to a wide range of effective strategies and in this way you will achieve the results in exams that you have worked for and deserve

Music Education Robert Walker, 2007 This is an important work that addresses the complex issues surrounding musical meaning and experience and the Western traditional justification for including music in education The chapters in this volume examine the important subjects of tradition innovation social change the music curriculum music in the twentieth century social strata culture and music education psychology science and music education including musical values and education Additional topics include the origins of mania aesthetics and musical meaning related to concepts that are well known to the ancient Greeks and Romans which are compared to contemporary life The rise of studies of musical behavior by social psychologists has been an important feature for the last two decades and the relevance of this development to music education is explored Articulating the difference between education and entertainment has been central to discussions and debates about the role of music in education since Plato and Aristotle first examined the problem Many of the questions and issues raised by these two Greek philosophers in ancient Greece about the nature of music and its role in education are highly relevant today and these are examined in the context of the twenty first century The writer stresses that music is a product of specific cultural ways of thinking and doing and its inclusion in education can only be justified in terms of the importance a particular culture places on its music as a valued art form The implications for music education are that those teaching music should focus in the ways musicians employ special cultural ways of thinking in their compositions and performance practices whatever the genre Contains 28 illustrations and 2 tables
