Directory of World Cinema: Africa Sheila Petty, 2014-01-01 Eschewing the postcolonial hubris that suggests Africa could only define itself in relation to its colonizers a problem plaguing many studies published in the West on African cinema this entry in the Directory of World Cinema series instead looks at African film as representing Africa for its own sake values and artistic choices With a film industry divided by linguistic heritage African directors do not have the luxury of producing comedies thrillers horror films or even love stories except perhaps as DVDs that do not travel far outside their country of production Instead African directors tend to cover serious sociopolitical ground even under the cover of comedy in the hopes of finding funds outside Africa Contributors to this volume draw on filmic representations of the continent to consider the economic role of women rural exodus economic migration refugees and diasporas culture religion and magic as well as representations of children music languages and symbols A survey of national cinemas in one volume Directory of World Cinema Africa is a necessary addition to the bookshelf of any cinephile and world traveller

Heart of Darkness Joseph Conrad, 2012-08-28 In a novella which remains highly controversial to this day Conrad explores the relations between Africa and Europe On the surface this is a horrifying tale of colonial exploitation The narrator Marlowe journeys on business deep into the heart of Africa But there he encounters Kurtz an idealist apparently crazed and depraved by his power over the natives and the meeting prompts Marlowe to reflect on the darkness at the heart of all men

This short but complex and often ambiguous story which has been the basis of several films and plays continues to provoke interpretation and discussion Heart of Darkness grew out of a journey Joseph Conrad took up the Congo River the verisimilitude that the great novelist thereby brought to his most famous tale everywhere enhances its dense and shattering power Apparently a sailor's yarn it is in fact a grim parody of the adventure story in which the narrator Marlow travels deep into the heart of the Congo where he encounters the crazed idealist Kurtz and discovers that the relative values of the civilized and the primitive are not what they seem Heart of Darkness is a model of economic storytelling an indictment of the inner and outer turmoil caused by the European imperial misadventure and a piercing account of the fragility of the human soul

The Economic Review, 1995 Film Ecology Susan Hayward, 2020-03-17 Using the Regenerative economic model also known as Doughnut Economics Susan Hayward offers a thought provoking sketch for a renewed tentatively revolutionary approach to both film theory and film practice This book attempts to answer the questions posed by T J Demos in Against the Anthropocene 2017 how do we find a way to address planetary harm and the issues it raises within the field of Film Studies How do we construct a theoretical model that allows us to visualize the ecological transgressions brought about by the growth model of capitalism which is heavily endorsed by mainstream narrative cinema By turning to the model set out in Kate Raworth s book Doughnut Economics 2017 and adapting its fundamental principles to a study of narrative cinema Film Ecology proposes to show how by using this model we can usefully plot and investigate films according to criteria that are not genre star auteur led nor indeed embedded in anthropocentric theoretical models but principles which are ecologically based These arguments are brought to life with examples from mainstream narrative films such as The Giant 1956 Mildred Pierce 1945 Erin Brockovich 2000 Wall Street 1987 Hotel Rwanda 2004 and Missing Figures 2016 This approach will inspire film practitioners film theorists critics and analysts film students and film lovers alike to consider how they might integrate this Doughnut model into their thinking or work as part of their process
