Where Is God in a Messed-Up World? Roger Carswell, 2009 If God exists and really is a God of love then why doesn't he stop the suffering and problems in our world Roger Carswell is realistic enough to admit that there are things God reveals to us and things he doesn't reveal He argues that the starting point is to find out who God is and figure out if he can be trusted even if we don't have all the answers God has not only been faithful to me he has been overwhelmingly kind incredibly merciful consistently good and unbelievably patient says Roger The author's own experience of suffering with depression and other real life stories that are included make this a compassionate look at one of the toughest questions about the Christian faith Moreover our questioning need not be a barrier to entrusting ourselves to God The War Hotel Arlene Audergon, 2004-12-10 Human Nature is the fuel of violent conflict The War Hotel looks at how we get aroused and how we get silenced into violent conflict We are pulled apart in the name of justice and loyalty Past trauma is triggered into a replay Out of love and longing to step beyond the ordinary world we sacrifice ourselves and others Dehumanizing the enemy disinformation torture stirring fear in order to crack down these terror tactics too are based in psychology The manipulation of psychological dynamics to create violent conflict is distressing But if our emotions and behaviour are the fuel then our awareness can impact world events There is something truly hopeful here Awareness makes a difference Examples draw particularly from the author's work in the Balkans Other examples include Nazi Germany Rwanda the Israeli Palestinian conflict Communism and its fall in Europe South Africa the treatment of Native Americans and African Americans in the USA Vietnam and the war on terror Listening to and Learning from Students Brian D. Schultz, 2011-01-01 This book embraces the idea of listening to and learning from students Although many educational theorists have long argued that incorporating children's perspectives about teaching and curriculum has the potential for increasing students interest and participation in learning their radical perspectives are still ignored or dismissed in theory and practice Through featured essays historical excerpts and provocative poetry this collection provides research literature and inquiry ideas that ought to be part of educational debates policy discussions and decision makings Articulated through thoughtful prose and discerning analysis youth teachers and scholars featured in this collection illuminate the power and promise of not only listening to and learning from students but also acting upon the insights of students This book calls for the 21st century educational workers teachers educators parents community workers administrators and policy makers to perceive students as massive reservoirs of knowledge that invigorate possibilities for teaching learning and curriculum in the contested educational landscape Daily Graphic Yaw Boadu-Ayeboafah,2005-10-12
