Greater than Equal Sarah Caroline Thuesen, 2013-08-01 During the half century preceding widespread school integration black North Carolinians engaged in a dramatic struggle for equal educational opportunity as segregated schooling flourished Drawing on archival records and oral histories Sarah Thuesen gives voice to students parents teachers school officials and civic leaders to reconstruct this high stakes drama She explores how African Americans pressed for equality in curricula higher education teacher salaries and school facilities how white officials co opted equalization as a means of forestalling integration and finally how black activism for equality evolved into a fight for something greater than equal integrated schools that served as models of civic inclusion These battles persisted into the Brown era mobilized black communities narrowed material disparities fostered black school pride and profoundly shaped the eventual movement for desegregation Thuesen emphasizes that the remarkable achievements of this activism should not obscure the inherent limitations of a fight for equality in a segregated society In fact these unresolved struggles are emblematic of fault lines that developed across the South and serve as an urgent reminder of the inextricable connections between educational equality racial diversity and the achievement of first class citizenship

Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow Roslyn Arlin Mickelson,Stephen Samuel Smith,Amy Hawn Nelson,2017-11-14 Yesterday Today and Tomorrow provides a compelling analysis of the forces and choices that have shaped the trend toward the resegregation of public schools By assembling a wide range of contributors historians sociologists economists and education scholars the editors provide a comprehensive view of a community s experience with desegregation and economic development Here we see resegregation through the lens of Charlotte North Carolina once a national model of successful desegregation and home of the landmark Swann desegregation case which gave rise to school busing This book recounts the last forty years of Charlotte s desegregation and resegregation putting education reform in political and economic context Within a decade of the Swann case the district had developed one of the nation's most successful desegregation plans measured by racial balance and improved academic outcomes for both Black and white students. However, beginning in the 1990s, this plan was gradually dismantled. Today, the level of resegregation in Charlotte has almost returned to what it was prior to 1971. At the core of Charlotte's story is the relationship between social structure and human agency with an emphasis on how yesterday's decisions and actions define today's choices.

Not Paved for Us Camika Royal, 2022-07-19 Winner of the 2024 AERA Outstanding Book Award. Not Paved for Us chronicles a fifty-year period in Philadelphia education and offers a critical look at how school reform efforts do and do not transform outcomes for Black students and educators. This illuminating book offers an extensive expert analysis of a school system that bears the legacy hallmarks and consequences that lie at the intersection of race and education. Urban education scholar Camika Royal deftly analyzes decades of efforts aimed at improving school performance within the School District of Philadelphia (SDP) in a brisk survey spanning every SDP superintendency from the 1960s through 2017. Royal interrogates the history of education and educational reforms, recounting city, state, and federal interventions. She covers SDP's connections with the Common School Movement and the advent of the Philadelphia Freedom Schools and she addresses federal policy shifts from school desegregation to the No Child Left Behind and Every Student Succeeds Acts. Her survey provides sociopolitical context and rich groundwork for a nuanced examination of why many large urban districts struggle to implement reforms with fidelity and in ways that advance Black students academically and holistically. In a bracing critique, Royal bears witness to the ways in which positive public school reform has been obstructed through racism and racial capitalism but also via liberal ideals, neoliberal practices, and austerity tactics. Royal shows how, despite the well-intended actions of larger entities, the weight of school reform here, as in other large urban districts, has been borne by educators striving to meet the extensive needs of their students, families, and communities with only the slightest material, financial, and human resources. She draws on the experiences of Black educators and community members and documents their contributions. Not Paved for Us highlights the experiences of Black educators as they navigate the racial and cultural politics of urban school reform. Ultimately, Royal names, dissects, and challenges the presence of racism in school reform policies and practices while calling for an antiracist future.

New Voyages to Carolina Larry E. Tise, Jeffrey J. Crow, 2017-09-14. New Voyages to Carolina offers a bold new approach for understanding and telling North Carolina's history. Recognizing the need for such a fresh approach and reflecting a generation of recent scholarship, eighteen distinguished authors have sculpted a broad, inclusive narrative of the state's evolution over more than four centuries. The volume provides new lenses and provocative possibilities for reimagining the state's past. Transcending traditional markers of wars and elections, the contributors map out a new chronology encompassing geological realities, the unappreciated presence of Indians, Blacks, and women, religious and cultural influences, and abiding preferences for industrial development within the limits of progressive politics. While challenging traditional story lines, the authors frame a candid tale of the state's development. Contributors

Disability Rights and Religious Liberty in Education Bruce J. Dierenfield, David A. Gerber, 2020-07-06 In 1988 Sandi and Larry Zobrest sued a suburban Tucson Arizona school district that had denied their hearing impaired son a taxpayer funded interpreter in his Roman Catholic high school The Catalina Foothills School District argued that providing a public resource for a private religious school created an unlawful crossover between church and state The Zobrests however claimed that the district had infringed on both their First Amendment right to freedom of religion and the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act IDEA Bruce J Dierenfield and David A Gerber use the Zobrests story to examine the complex history and jurisprudence of disability accommodation and educational mainstreaming They look at the family s effort to acquire educational resources for their son starting in early childhood and the choices the Zobrests made to prepare him for life in the hearing world rather than the deaf community Dierenfield and Gerber also analyze the thorny church state issues and legal controversies that informed the case its journey to the U S Supreme Court and the impact of the high court s ruling on the course of disability accommodation and religious liberty Bridging The Opportunity Gap II Dr. Danielle

Hyles, 2025-01-16 Bridging The Opportunity Gap II is an international comparative education leadership novel based in both Toronto Canada and Sydney Australia that explores the history culture and organizational structure of its supports and barriers to uplift future school principals to system superintendent for a district within the school board This is to motivate upcoming school principals to take their high education degrees superintendent courses and other professional development opportunities to be promoted to higher education leadership senior roles of management and success John Hervey

Wheeler, Black Banking, and the Economic Struggle for Civil Rights Brandon K. Winford, 2019-12-09 WINNER OF THE LILLIAN SMITH BOOK AWARD John Hervey Wheeler 1908 1978 was one of the civil rights movement s most influential leaders In articulating a bold vision of regional prosperity grounded in full citizenship and economic power for African Americans this banker lawyer and visionary would play a key role in the fight for racial and economic equality throughout North Carolina Utilizing previously unexamined sources from the John Hervey Wheeler Collection at the Atlanta University Center Robert W Woodruff Library this biography explores the black freedom struggle through the life of North Carolina s most influential black power broker After graduating from Morehouse College Wheeler returned to Durham and began a decades long career at Mechanics and Farmers M F Bank He started as a teller and rose to become bank president in 1952

In 1961 President Kennedy appointed Wheeler to the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity a position in which he championed equal rights for African Americans and worked with Vice President Johnson to draft civil rights legislation. One of the first blacks to attain a high position in the state's Democratic Party, Wheeler became the state party's treasurer in 1968 and then its financial director. Wheeler urged North Carolina's white financial advisors to steer the region toward the end of Jim Crow segregation for economic reasons. Straddling the line between confrontation and negotiation, Wheeler pushed for increased economic opportunity for African Americans while reminding the white South that its future was linked to the plight of black southerners. Parenting and the State in Britain and Europe, c. 1870-1950 Hester

Barron, Claudia Siebrecht, 2016-12-29 This innovative collection draws on original research to explore the dynamic interactions between parents, governments and their representatives across a range of European contexts from democratic Britain and Finland to Stalinist Russia and Fascist Italy. The authors pay close attention to the various relationships and dynamics between parents and the state, showing that the different parties were defined not solely by coercion or manipulation but also by collaboration and negotiation. Parents were not passive recipients of government direction; rituals and cultures of parenting could both affirm and undermine state politics. Readers will find this collection crucial to understanding family life and the role of the state during a period when both underwent significant change. Growing into Resilience André P. Grace, 2015-01-01 Despite recent progress in civil rights for sexual and gender minorities, SGM ensuring SGM youth experience fairness, justice, inclusion, safety and security in their schools and communities remains an ongoing challenge. In Growing into Resilience, André P. Grace and Kristopher Wells, co-founders of Camp Firefly, a summer leadership camp for SGM youth, investigate how teachers, healthcare workers and other professionals can help SGM youth build the human and material assets that will empower them to be happy, healthy and resilient. Grace and Wells investigate the comprehensive physical, mental and sexual health of SGM youth, emphasizing the role of caring professionals in an approach that recognizes and accommodates SGM youth. Throughout, the authors draw upon the personal narratives of SGM youth, emphasizing how research, policy and practice must act together for them to be able to thrive and fulfill their promise. Both a resource for those professionally engaged in work with sexual and gender minorities and a comprehensive text for use in courses on working with vulnerable youth populations, Growing into Resilience is a timely and transdisciplinary book. Rightlessness A. Naomi Paik, 2016-01-08 In this bold book, A. Naomi Paik grapples with the history of U.S. prison camp that have confined people outside the boundaries of legal and civil rights. Removed from the social and political communities that would guarantee fundamental legal protections, these detainees are effectively rightless, stripped of the right even to have rights. Rightless people thus expose an essential paradox: while the United States purports to champion inalienable rights at home and internationally, it has built its global power in part by creating a regime of imprisonment that places certain populations perceived as threats beyond rights. The United States' status as the guardian of rights coincides with indeed depends on its creation of rightlessness Yet rightless people are not silent Drawing from an expansive testimonial archive of legal proceedings truth commission records poetry and experimental video Paik shows how rightless people use their imprisonment to protest U S state violence She examines demands for redress by Japanese Americans interned during World War II testimonies of HIV positive Haitian refugees detained at Guant namo in the early 1990s and appeals by Guant namo s enemy combatants from the War on Terror In doing so she reveals a powerful ongoing contest over the nature and meaning of the law over civil liberties and global human rights and over the power of the state in people s lives
