Giarini,W.R. Stahel,2012-12-06 I consider it a privilege to have been invited to write a preface for The Limits to Certainty It is however paradoxical that a theorectical physicist be asked to write about a monograph dealing mainly with service economics Notwithstanding I am delighted to do so Indeed it is striking that two so widely different fields like physics and social science and more especially economics can interact in such a constructive way There is no question here of reductionism Nobody claims to be able to reduce social sciences to physics nor to use patterns of social interaction in order to formulate new laws for atoms What is at stake here is more important than reduction the age old separation between the so called hard and soft sciences is breaking down This separation has a long history First one should recall the influence of Newton s achievement on the formulation of scientific goals This influence led to the formulation of equilibrium models for supply demand adjustment As was noticed by Walter Weisskopf the Newtonian paradigm underlying classical and non classical economics interpreted the economy according to the patterns developed in classical physics and mechanics in analogy to the planetary system to a machine or clockwork a closed autonomous system ruled by endogenous factors of a highly selective nature self regulating and moving to a determinate predictable point of equilibrium The Geneva Papers on Risk and Insurance 1984 Vol 9 no 33 pp 335 360

Complex Loadings held in Fukuoka Japan on 25-26 July 1991 The Symposium was held in memory of Professor Tatsuo Endo inventor of the rainflow method of counting fatigue cycles His contributions were key to the development of an overall method for evaluating the service life of engineering components subjected to fatigue loading This volume contains 23 papers organized into four parts Part I on the cycle counting method includes papers on the historical development of the rainflow cycle counting method and a fatigue analysis data reduction concept for general multidimensional time series Part II on ground vehicles includes studies on methods for solving vehicle fatigue problems caused by body resonance and a synthetic computer system for fatigue damage based design of weld structure for construction machines Part III on fatigue testing and analysis includes papers on crack closure load measurements during fatigue crack growth tests on the titanium alloy Ti 6Al 4V and growing fatigue cracks under varying amplitude loadings Part IV presents a panel discussion on total system of fatigue damage measurement and evaluation under complex loadings Commercial News USA, 1990

The Liminal Loop Timothy L. Carson, 2022-02-24 Recent and current crises in health ecology society and spirituality have lent the whole arena of liminality a new urgency and relevancy Those who traverse the great transitions are rediscovering new ways of interpreting life through the liminal lens a way to make sense of the great voluntary and unchosen transitions that characterize modern life This anthology provides a unique overview of liminality as it gathers a diverse coterie of authors disciplines and contexts to explore its many facets Distinct in its interdisciplinary approach The Liminal Loop serves as an important source book for general readers teachers students artists counselors spiritual guides and social transformers From liminal poetry and musical traditions to the strange vertical world of the rock climber The Liminal Loop explores the swirling chaos on the other side of critical thresholds and suggests a pathway through the daunting middle passages of the in between With what can only be described as courage the many authors of this collection dare to look uncertainty in the eye knowing that this is a necessary journey and that it is better to travel with a common band of pilgrims than to go it alone

Feedback Economics Robert Y. Cavana, Brian C. Dangerfield, Oleg V. Pavlov, Michael J. Radzicki, I. David Wheat, 2021-06-30 This book approaches economic problems from a systems thinking and feedback perspective By introducing system dynamics methods including qualitative and quantitative techniques and computer simulation models the respective contributions apply feedback analysis and dynamic simulation modeling to important local national and global economics issues and concerns Topics covered include an introduction to macro modeling using a system dynamics framework a system dynamics translation of the Phillips machine a re-examination of classical economic theories from a feedback perspective analyses of important social ecological and resource issues the development of a biophysical economics module for global modelling contributions to monetary and financial economics analyses of macroeconomic growth income distribution and alternative theories of well being and a re-examination of scenario macro modeling The contributions also examine the philosophical differences between the economics and system dynamics communities in an effort to bridge existing gaps and compare methods Many models and other supporting information are provided as online supplementary files Consequently the book appeals to students and scholars in economics as well as to practitioners and policy analysts interested in using systems thinking and system dynamics modeling to understand and improve economic systems around the world Clearly there is much space for more collaboration between the advocates of post Keynesian economics and system dynamics More generally I would like to recommend this book to all scholars and practitioners interested in exploring the interface and synergies between economics system dynamics and feedback thinking Comments in the Foreword by Marc Lavoie Emeritus Professor University of Ottawa and University of Sorbonne Paris Nord OECD Series on Risk
