Messages For Sorority Initiation:

Ann Caruso, 2012-03 Diary of a Sorority House Mom recounts Ann Caruso's first two years as house director for a female version of Animal House where the women of the house set and enforced their own rules. When the girls asked if they could recycle liquor bottles during their first meeting, she knew she was in trouble. Though the house director contract and manual mandated that Ms. Caruso was responsible for the safety of the girls, she had no authority to carry out that task. There was no tab on the manual for what happens if a drunk girl falls out of the third floor window, gets raped, or dies of alcohol poisoning. It was common to find kegs iced in the bathtub, bottles of alcohol used as room decorations, and when she asked the risk management vice president if she wanted to know when a guy spent the night, her response was "Why?" Has someone complained? Diary of a Sorority House Mom will make you laugh out loud and bring you to tears. It is sometimes hysterical and at others disturbing or disgusting, but it was her life for two years. Her first sorority girls gave her eighteen of the happiest and six of the saddest months of her life. And for the most part, she wouldn't have changed a thing.

White Sororities and the Cultural Work of Belonging Charlotte Hogg, 2023-12-19 Charlotte Hogg takes a close look through the example of White university sororities at how we create and cling to subcultures through the notion of belonging and how spoken and unspoken rhetorics contribute to this notion. Renewed calls to end Greek letter organizations for racism and sexism, including increased scrutiny on White women's social justice failings, have intensified. But as Hogg shows, rhetorics of belonging have always occurred amid and even in response to anti-GLO sentiment. She shows how rhetorical efforts by members for members foster belonging for insiders while also seeking to appease those on the outside. In her analysis, Hogg positions the study of rhetoric beyond traditional methods of persuasion to show how we communicate and participate in communities as citizens in subtle ways beyond speaking and writing. Through engaging narrative drawing on her experiences as a member of a White sorority, archival research, and interviews with collegians and alumni, she shows how efforts toward belonging can influence particular beliefs about womanhood in complex ways. This thought-provoking volume will interest scholars and students from a range of disciplines including rhetoric and communication studies, gender studies, feminism, sociology, cultural anthropology, and history.
