Crime and Criminal Justice Stacy L. Mallicoat, Denise Paquette Boots, 2024-02-19 Crime and Criminal Justice provides accessible and comprehensive coverage of all aspects of the criminal justice system With contemporary examples and effective learning tools the Third Edition helps students go beyond the surface towards a deeper understanding of the criminal justice system

The Organisation of Crime and Harm in the Construction Industry Jon Davies, Hanna Malik, 2024-04-30 Drawing on empirical work and secondary analysis from the UK and Finnish construction industries this book contributes a deep rooted analysis of construction industry harms that originate from corporate industrial state processes The UK context arguably represents a classic neoliberal system categorised by privatisation of services and minimal regulation whereas Finland broadly provides a social democratic alternative with its relatively strong national regulation and public sector oversight of industry These concepts interlink strongly with the notion of state corporate crime since this perspective shifts attention away from individualistic explanations for crime and harm towards symbiosis between states and corporations This book argues that existing explanations based on organised crime and individual rogues are insufficient to account for the wider range and subtlety of harms that occur in construction and therefore offers a unique perspective into organisational industry and state dynamics in this sector An accessible and compelling read this book will appeal to students and scholars of criminology sociology organized crime and those interested in harms in the construction industry offending has become a mainstay item of reporting in our daily newspapers and television news bulletins This book offers an account of the policing of sexual offences and the difficulties that confront the police in the investigation of these intrusive crimes It surveys the breath of sexual offences and examines the reporting of sexual crime and the attrition level that follows It proceeds by critically assessing the efforts the police are making to overcome these difficulties and the degree to which they are making progress The book outlines the relatively new police role of policing the convicted sex offenders themselves who are living in the community and are subject to risk management by the police and the requirements of the sex offender register held by the police Written by a leading expert this timely book will be of great interest to scholars of sexual offending and criminal justice Policing Public Protection Rachael Aplin,2024-12-27 This book explores the effective policing of public protection issues from chapter authors with varied research and practitioner experience The collection is aimed at detective police officers in specialist units response and neighbourhood officers as well as new recruits in policing public protection Each chapter offers an understanding of victimology perpetration and the effective policing and investigation of such crimes It explores questions such as why crimes happen who the victims are what perpetrators do and why they might target certain victims This book explores international literature the evidence base past mistakes and what effective and professional policing should look like The intention is to improve the policing and investigation of such complex crimes Each chapter provides a concise summary a comprehensive literature review and a list of key actions for practice that officers should consider It closes with a list of key resources These chapters specifically cover the following thematic crime areas such as domestic abuse child sexual abuse gendered violence and trafficking This book also speaks to local authorities Social Services Trading Standards professionals in Education Health and Probation academics and Non Government Organisations NGO in the charitable sector Gendered Perspectives on Preventing Violent Extremism Sam Andrews,2022-09-16 The UK's Prevent strategy aims to dissuade vulnerable groups from supporting terrorism and women have been involved since its inception in 2006 Sam Andrews argues that women are still viewed within a traditional gendered framework as primarily peaceful and are mostly engaged as mothers enlisted by Prevent to watch over and guide their families and communities Drawing on interviews and case studies this book reveals how Prevent goes beyond simple counter terrorism messaging to fund a diverse array of projects from support for victims of domestic violence to parenting courses shaping wider engagement with women in society The Form of Legislation and the Rule of Law Ronan Cormacain,2022-12-22 What does the rule of law mean in practical terms for the way that legislation is prepared drafted and presented It is a cornerstone of the UK legal order and requires certain things from the legal system such as that the law must be intelligible predictable and accessible This book examines what those requirements mean for the form that legislation must take Using the rule of law as the starting point the author uses deductive reasoning to determine what flows from this in terms of the form of legislation Each element of the rule of law is analysed to establish principles about the form that legislation ought to take and the book examines how each principle can be given concrete effect The originality lies in the nexus between the rule of law and the form of legislation Much has been written about the nature and content of the rule of law but relatively little has been devoted to legisprudence the theory and practice of legislation This book now draws these two subjects together in a detailed and innovative way Producing Bias-Free Policing Lorie A. Fridell,2016-08-03 This Brief provides specific recommendations for police professionals to reduce the influence of implicit bias on police practice which will improve both effectiveness in a shift towards evidence based rather than bias based practices and police legitimacy The author is donating her proceeds from this book to the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial Fund nleomf.org Closing the Justice Gap for Adult and Child Sexual Assault Anne Cossins,2020-10-21 This book examines the justice gap and trial process for sexual assault against both adults and children in two jurisdictions England and Wales and New South Wales Australia Drawing on decades of research it investigates the reality of the policing and prosecution of sexual assault offences often seen as one of the hardest crimes to prosecute across two similar jurisdictions Despite the introduction of the many reform options detailed in the book satisfactory outcomes for victims and the public are still difficult to obtain Cossins takes a new approach by examining the nature and effects of adversarialism on vulnerable witnesses jury decision making and the structures of power within the trial process to show how and at what points that process is weighted against complainants of sexual assault in order to make evidence based suggestions for reform She argues that this justice gap is a result of a moralisticadversarial culture which fosters myths and misconceptions about rape and child sexual assault thus requiring the prosecution to prove a complainant's moral worthiness. She argues this culture can only be eliminated by a radical replacement of the adversarial system with a trauma-informed system. By reviewing the relevant psychological literature, this book documents the triggers for re-traumatisation within an adversarial trial and discusses the reform measures that would be necessary to transform the sexual assault trial from one where the complainant's moral worthiness is on trial to a fully functioning trauma-informed system. It speaks to students and academics across subjects including law, criminology, gender studies, and psychology, and practitioners in law and victim services as well as policy makers.

Introduction to Policing Research Denise Martin, Stephen Tong, 2023-12-05 This book offers a first-hand insight into the work of policing scholars and the research that they undertake. Bringing together a range of leading scholars and drawing on a range of pressing topics, it introduces the diverse nature of policing research and the ethical and practical challenges faced by policing researchers. Each chapter brings clarity to the concept of empirical research within policing, introduces readers to the theoretical explanations and assumptions that underpin the rationale of research design in policing, as well as considering the limitations of research. Topics include research methods in police research, police professionalisation, police and diversity, police leadership, undercover policing, police and vulnerability, activist research, social media and policing. This revised and expanded new edition includes more focus on the role of research in policing, police and academic partnerships, and practitioners as researchers, as well as a brand new section offering international perspectives on policing research. Brimming with practical examples, case studies, key learning points, and practical advice, this book is essential reading for Professional Policing students, as well as early career researchers and those engaged with criminological research methods.

The Policing of Protest, Disorder and International Terrorism in the UK since 1945 Peter Joyce, 2017-02-06 This book examines the nature of protest and the way in which the police and state respond to the activities associated with this term. Protest is explored within the context of the perceived decline in public engagement with recent general election contests. It is often thought that protest is regarded as an alternative to or as a replacement for formal political engagement with electoral politics, and this book provides a thoughtful assessment of the place of protest in the contemporary conduct of political affairs. Analysing key forms of protest, such as demonstrations, direct action, protest conducted within the workplace, riots, and terrorism, this study also illustrates each of these activities with a wide range of examples of events that have taken place within the UK since 1945. It will be of keen interest to students of criminology, criminal justice studies, police studies, and politics.

Leading the Police Kim Stevenson, David Cox, Iain Channing, 2018-03-12 In 2015 the College of Policing published its Leadership Review with specific reference to the type of leadership required to ensure that the next generation of Chief Constables and their management approach will be fit for purpose Three key issues were highlighted as underpinning the effective leadership and management of contemporary policing hierarchy culture and consistency Yet these are not just relevant to modern policing having appeared as constant features implicitly and explicitly since the creation of the first provincial constabularies in 1835 This collection reviews the history of the UK Chief Constable reflecting on the shifts and continuities in police leadership style practice and performance over the past 180 years critiquing the factors affecting their operational management and how these impacted upon the organization and service delivery of their forces The individuality of Chief Constables significantly impacts on how national and local strategies are implemented shaping relationships with their respective communities and local authorities

Importantly the book addresses not just the English experience but considers the role of Chief Constables in the whole of the United Kingdom highlighting the extent to which they could exercise autonomous authority over their force and populace The historical perspective adopted contextualises existing considerations of leadership in modern policing and the extensive timeframe and geographical reach beyond the experience of the Metropolitan force enables a direct engagement with contemporary debates It also offers a valuable addition to the existing literature contributing to the institutional memory of UK policing The contributors represent a range of disciplines including history law criminology and leadership studies and some also have practical policing experience

Fighting at the Legal Boundaries Kenneth Watkin, 2016 Fighting at the Legal Boundaries offers a holistic approach towards the application of the various constitutive parts of international law The author focuses on the interaction between the applicable bodies of law by exploring whether their boundaries are improperly drawn or are being interpreted in too rigid a fashion Emphasis is placed on the disconnect that can occur between theory and practice regarding how these legal regimes are applied and interact with one another Through a number of case studies Fighting at the Legal Boundaries explores how the threat posed by insurgents terrorists and transnational criminal gangs often occurs not only at the point where these bodies of law interact but also in situations where there is significant overlap In this regard the exercise of the longstanding right of States to defend nationals including the conduct of operations such as hostage rescue can involve the application of human rights based law enforcement norms to counter threats transcending the conflict spectrum

Banks as Security Actors Esmé Bosma, 2025-04-22 This book analyses how banks implement counter terrorist financing measures and experiment with technologies to assess risks and make security decisions Banks have become private security actors As gatekeepers of the financial system they are legally obliged to conduct customer research and monitor bank accounts for unusual or suspicious transactions Given the sheer volume of financial transactions that banks process daily detection of financial crime heavily relies on digital security technologies that help analysts categorise and identify risky customers and financial transactions Drawing from theories at the intersection of International Relations and Science and Technology Studies the book advances the concept of de scription to offer a framework for analysing experimentation with security and digital technologies in practice The research is based on fieldwork conducted in the financial crime sector in the Netherlands and the United Kingdom It explores how political and ethical choices materialise at the human technology interface and analyses the production of customer risk profiles the design and use of transaction monitoring systems and the emergence of public private partnerships to counter terrorist financing This book will be of interest to students and researchers in International Relations Science and Technology Studies and Critical Security Studies

Policing in an Age of Reform James J. Nolan, Frank Crispino, Timothy Parsons, 2020-12-07 This book tackles the contentious issue of policing in an age of controversy and uncertainty It is a timely book written by police scholars predominantly former practitioners from Europe Australia and North America who draw from their own research and operational experiences to illuminate key issues relating to police reform in the present day While acknowledging some relevance of usual proposed models such as problem solving evidence based policing and procedural justice the contributors provide an insider look at a variety of perspectives and approaches to police reform which have emerged in recent decades It invites university students criminologists social scientists police managers forensic scientists to question and adapt their perspectives on a broad range of topics such as community policing hate crime Islamic radicalisation neighborhood dynamics situational policing antidiscrimination and civil society police ethics performance measures and advances in forensic science technology intelligence and more in an accessible and comprehensive manner
