Resources in Education ,2001-04 Generational Identity, Educational Change, and School Leadership Corrie Stone-Johnson,2016-03-22 Generational identity plays a large role in how teachers view educational change and school reform Teachers of the Boomer generation an era characterized by optimism and innovation tend to be more resistant to change than those of Generation X for whom standardization represents the norm not a shift This volume reviews five decades of research on educational change and teachers varying responses to it from a generational perspective providing school leaders with insight on how best to relate to these groups to achieve a common goal Through ongoing professional development oriented by multigenerational grouping teachers and school leaders can define success and create a multigenerational understanding of what good teaching and leadership look like Academic and Research Literacy Practices of Final Year Teacher Trainees in Luanda, Angola Celeste Sambeny,2016-06-22 Academic and Research Literacy Practices of Final Year Teacher Trainees in Luanda Angola presents a detailed study of students and lecturers at higher teacher training institutions where English is taught as a medium of instruction and specialisation As such the book will help raise the awareness of educators teachers and supervisors of the need to be more supportive to students and will highlight the importance of increased responsibility on the part of the students regarding their studies especially during the process of writing their research reports Practical experience has shown that in most classrooms students are typically asked to produce texts for one single audience namely the teacher or the lecturer who already knows what constitutes an acceptable response However in many classrooms teachers and lecturers tend to believe that literacy can be defined as the ability to encode and decode texts the ability to decipher the main idea of a reading passage or to write a text that obeys the general conventions of language usage such as syntax organisation and idea development The central argument of this book however is that at higher levels of the educational system in Angola academic and research literacy practices are at best questionable and at worst harmful An extensive re evaluation of assumptions regarding student capability and what it means to be a literate in the twenty first century information society is of critical importance Such a re examination allows for extensive reflection on current practices and a powerful critique of traditional academic and research literacy methods and suggests ways in which practices of quality teaching and learning may be implemented EFL Writing Teacher

Education and Professional Development Estela Ene, Betsy Gilliland, Sarah Henderson Lee, Tanita Saenkhum, Lisya Seloni, 2024-04-16 This book explores how EFL writing teacher education is theoretically pedagogically methodologically and sociopolitically shaped given teachers unique local contexts and circumstances It showcases practitioners and researchers teaching in or studying geographic areas that have as yet been under represented in international publications and it focuses on ways that specific contexts create unique opportunities and constraints on what developing teachers know and do in their work The chapters prioritize local voices and materials to build a more inclusive and comprehensive picture of L2 writing globally enabling the book as a whole to both document and further shape pedagogical approaches to L2 writing Readers will be able to use the unique insights contained in this book in their own classrooms and professional development activities
