Vehicle Compatibility in Automotive Crashes Stanley H Backaitis, 2005-03-29 For years reducing the number of traffic-related fatalities and injuries has been a major problem throughout the world. Today it has gained much more momentum in view of rapidly increasing SUV, van and light truck populations relative to the number of passenger cars and due to significant improvements in technologies that facilitate a better understanding of the interaction dynamics among widely differing size vehicles. Unless disparities in crashworthiness among vehicles of different masses, sizes and structural characteristics in mixed crash environments are successfully taken into account, the challenge toward improved vehicle safety will continue. This two-part compendium provides the most comprehensive information available on the entire spectrum of vehicle crash compatibility. The first part presents oral comments captured from the 2003 SAE World Congress panel discussion on compatibility. The panel of leading experts representing industry, academia and government provides a rough framework and a broad range of views on current and emerging developments in compatibility research. The second part of this compendium features 44 best technical papers from SAE International and the International Technical Conference on the Enhanced Safety of Vehicles published from the early 1970s through 2004. Readers will get a feel for the direction passenger car and heavy vehicle manufacturers, research institutions, infrastructure suppliers, insurers and governments are taking to reduce the number of traffic fatalities and injuries.

Financialization and Strategy Julie Froud, Sukhdev Johal, Adam Leaver, Karel Williams, 2006-04-18 Considering the recent impact of the capital market on corporate strategy, this text analyzes through argument and supportive case studies how pressures from the capital bull market of the 1990s and bear market of the early 2000s have reshaped management action and calculation in large publicly quoted US and UK corporations. Beginning with the dissatisfaction with classical strategy and its limited engagement with the processes of financialization, the book moves on to cover three detailed company case studies: General Electric, Ford and GlaxoSmithKline, which use long-run financial data and analysis of company and industry narratives to illustrate and explore key themes. The book emphasizes the importance of company and industry narrative while also analyzing long-term financial results and helps to explain the limits of management action and the burden of expectations placed on corporate governance. Presenting financial and market information on trajectory in an accessible way, this book provides a distinctive critical social science account of management in large UK and US corporations and it is a valuable resource for students, scholars and researchers of business management, political economy and non-mainstream economics. Short-listed for the 2007 IPEG Book Prize.
