How Can I Get Nsfas Application Forms For 2015:

Low-Income Students, Human Development and Higher Education in South Africa Melanie Walker, Monica McLean, 2022-07-15 This book explores learning outcomes for low income rural and township youth at five South African universities The book is framed as a contribution to southern and Africa centred scholarship adapting Amartya Sen's capability approach and a framework of key concepts capabilities functionings context conversion factors poverty and agency to investigate opportunities and obstacles to achieved student outcomes This approach allows a reimagining of inclusive learning outcomes to encompass the multi dimensional value of a university education and a plurality of valued cognitive and non cognitive outcomes for students from low income backgrounds whose experiences are strongly shaped by hardship Based on capability theorising and student voices the book proposes for policy and practice a set of contextual higher education capability domains and corresponding functionings orientated to more justice and more equality for each person to have the opportunities to be and to do what they have reason to value The book concludes that sufficient material resources are necessary to get into university and flourish while there the benefits of a university education should be rich and multi dimensional so that they can result in functionings in all areas of life as well as work and future study the inequalities and exclusion of the labour market and pathways to further study must be addressed by wider economic and social policies for inclusive learning outcomes to be meaningful and that universities ought to be doing more to enable black working class students to participate and succeed Low Income Students Human Development and Higher Education in South Africa makes an original contribution to capability scholarship conceptually in theorising a South based multi dimensional student well being higher education matrix and a rich reconceptualisation of learning outcomes as well as empirically by conducting rigorous longitudinal in depth mixed methods research on students lives and experiences in higher education in South Africa The audience for the book includes higher education researchers international capability scholars practitioners and policy makers

Fees Must Fall Susan Booysen, 2016-10-01 This book explores the student discontent a year after the start of the 2015 South African FeesMustFall revolt FeesMustFall the student revolt that began in October 2015 was an uprising against lack of access to and financial exclusion from higher education in South Africa More broadly it radically questioned the socio political dispensation resulting from the 1994 social pact between big business the ruling elite and the liberation movement The 2015 revolt links to national and international youth struggles of the recent past and is informed by black consciousness politics and social movements of the international left Yet its objectives are more complex than those of earlier struggles The student movement has challenged the hierarchical top down leadership system of university management and its double speak of professing to act in workers and students interests yet entrenching a regressive system for control and governance University managements while on one level amenable to change have also co opted students into their ranks to create co responsibility for the highly bureaucratised university financial aid that stands in the way of their social revolution

This book maps the contours of student discontent a year after the start of the FeesMustFall revolt. Student voices dissect colonialism, improper compromises by the founders of democratic South Africa, feminism, worker rights, and meaningful education. In-depth assessments by prominent scholars reflect on the complexities of student activism, its impact on national and university governance, and offer provocative analyses of the power of the revolt.

Accessing Post-School Studies
Venicia McGhie & Madge du Preez, 2017-12-01

Accessing Post-School Studies: A student's GPS to successful learning makes a valuable contribution to often problematic and pertinent South African higher education issues such as student access and success, student learning, student support, and student engagement. In this regard, the authors draw on the works of higher education theorists such as Kuh, Tinto, Marton, and Sij. The book is primarily a helpful resource for South African learners in school, students at universities, life orientation teachers, as well as parents of prospective university students. It will especially assist students to adapt to the university environment.

Rebels and Rage Adam Habib, 2019-03-01

Adam Habib, the most prominent and outspoken university official through the recent student protests, takes a characteristically frank view of the past three years on South Africa's campuses. In this new book, Habib charts the progress of the student protests that erupted on Wits University campus in late 2015 and raged for the better part of three years, drawing on his own intimate involvement and negotiation with the students and also records university management and government responses to the events. He critically examines the student movement and individual student leaders who emerged under the banners FeesMustFall and RhodesMustFall and debates how to achieve truly progressive social change in South Africa on our campuses and off.

This book is both an attempt at a historical account and a thoughtful reflection on the issues the protests kicked up from the perspective not only of a high-ranking member of university management but also Habib as political scientist with a background as an activist during the struggle against apartheid. Habib moves between reflecting on the events of the last three years on university campuses and reimagining the future of South African higher education.

Higher Education Pathways Paul Ashwin, M. Case, 2018-12-13 In what ways does access to undergraduate education have a transformative impact on people and societies What conditions are required for this impact to occur What are the pathways from an undergraduate education to the public good including inclusive economic development These questions have particular resonance in the South African higher education context which is attempting to tackle the challenges of widening access and improving completion rates in a system in which the segregations of the apartheid years are still apparent Higher education is recognised in core legislation as having a distinctive and crucial role in building post apartheid society Undergraduate education is seen as central to addressing skills shortages in South Africa It is also seen to yield significant social returns including a consistent positive impact on societal institutions and the development of a range of capabilities that have public as well as private benefits This book offers comprehensive contemporary evidence that allows for a fresh engagement with these pressing issues Achieving Nelson Mandela University? Sibongile Muthwa, Denver A.

Webb, 2024-08-20 South Africa's higher education sector is rooted in the country's divided past A significant State driven restructuring from around 1997 to 2005 resulted in what is largely the current configuration of public universities But just over two decades later for a variety of reasons the higher education sector in South Africa appears beset with numerous challenges Nelson Mandela University is one of the public universities that emerged from the restructuring process The university is in an ongoing state of evolution of becoming It developed out of the amalgamation of the University of Port Elizabeth Port Elizabeth Technikon and incorporation of the Port Elizabeth campus of Vista University as Nelson Mandela Metropolitan University in 2005 In 2017 it was renamed Nelson Mandela University after the world renowned statesman rather than the metropolitan area in which the university is primarily located The renaming was conceptualised as more than a marketing opportunity to rebrand the university but as an opportunity to reorientate the university to reposition Nelson Mandela University as an engaged and socially embedded university in the service of society striving to be the academic expression of the values and ethos of its iconic namesake Endeavouring to be something greater and different from the norm imbues its strategy public statements and practices The determination to achieve Mandela University serves or is intended to serve as both an organising principle and a lodestar A cross section of writers from different backgrounds situates Nelson Mandela University within the contemporary historical moment from which it emerged and examines its subsequent evolution While Nelson Mandela University has performed the usual work expected of any university it has also sought to turn the university outwards to achieve a higher purpose framing itself as a values based university on a journey to become something else In Achieving Nelson Mandela University the university attempts to give an account of itself The book is an intellectual and scholarly reflection on where the university has come from and where it is seeking to go Higher Education, 2023-11-02 COVID wrought havoc on the world's economic systems. Higher education did not escape the ravages brought on by the pandemic as institutions of higher education around the world faced major upheavals in their educational delivery systems. Some institutions were prepared for the required transition to online learning. Most were not. Whether prepared or not, educators rose to the challenge. The innovativeness of educators met the challenges as digital learning replaced the face-to-face environment. In fact, some of the distance models proved so engaging that many students no longer desire a return to the face-to-face model. As with all transitions, some things were lost while others were gained. This book examines practice in the field as institutions struggled to face the worst global pandemic in the last century. The book is organized into four sections: Perils and Promises, The State of Online Education, Goals and Challenges of Online Learning, and Innovations in the Age of COVID. It presents various perspectives from educators around the world to illustrate the struggles and triumphs of those facing new challenges and implementing new ideas to empower the educational process. These discussions shed light on the impact of the pandemic and the future of higher education post-COVID. Higher education has been forever changed, and higher education as it once was may never return. While many questions arise, the achievements in meeting and overcoming the pandemic illustrate the creativity and innovativeness of educators around the world who inspired future generations of learners to reach new heights of accomplishment even in the face of the pandemic.

New South African Review 6 Devan Pillay, Gilbert M Khadiagala, Roger Southall, Sarah Mosoetsa, Samuel Kariuki, 2018-01-29 Wide-ranging essays demonstrate how the consequences of inequality extend throughout society and the political economy. Despite the transition from apartheid to democracy, South Africa is the most unequal country in the world. Its extremes of wealth and poverty undermine intensifying struggles for a better life for all. The wide-ranging essays in this sixth volume of the New South African Review demonstrate how the consequences of inequality extend throughout society and the political economy, crippling the quest for social justice, polarising the politics, skewing economic outcomes, and bringing devastating environmental consequences in their wake. Contributors survey the extent and consequences of inequality across fields as diverse as education, disability, agrarian reform, nuclear geography, and small towns, and tackle some of the most difficult social, political, and economic issues. How has the quest for greater equality affected progressive political discourse? How has inequality reproduced itself despite best intentions in social policy to the detriment of the poor and the historically disadvantaged? How have shifts in mining and the financialisation of the economy reshaped the contours of inequality? How does inequality reach into the daily social life of South Africans and shape the way in which they interact? How does the extent and shape of inequality in South Africa compare with that of other major countries of the global South, which themselves are notorious for their extremes of wealth and poverty? South African extremes of inequality reflect increasing inequality globally, and The Crisis of Inequality will speak to all those—general readers, policy makers, researchers—and students who are demanding a more equal world Internationalizing US Student Affairs Practice Tamara Yakaboski, Brett Perozzi, 2018-05-30 Grounded in research and theory Internationalizing US Student Affairs Practice presents an inclusive framework for enhancing the intercultural competencies of practitioners students and faculty in institutions of higher education This cutting edge book explores how student affairs practitioners are well positioned to integrate internationalization strategies across student affairs divisions and functions Each chapter intentionally incorporates theories and literature from higher education and student affairs disciplines infused with international and multicultural education Promising Practices case studies written and submitted by practitioners around the world appear throughout the book to demonstrate practical applications in non US settings The strategies in this book help student affairs practitioners enhance the intercultural development of support programs and services all without leaving the home campus University Access and Success Merridy Wilson-Strydom, 2015-02-11 The challenge of widening access and participation in higher education in a manner that ensures students are successful in their studies is a major issue globally and a significant research focus within higher education studies and higher education policy Similarly the challenge of under preparedness of students entering higher education has become increasingly pertinent as universities in both developed and developing countries struggle to improve their throughput rates in a context in which schooling no longer seems to provide sufficient preparation for entering university In this book Merridy Wilson Strydom applies the capabilities approach to better understand university access and participation and draws on a rich case study from South Africa to critically and innovatively explore the complex and contradictory terrain of access with success The book integrates quantitative and qualitative research with theory and practical application to provide a new framework for considering and improving the transition from school to university University Access and Success will appeal to academics and researchers in the field of higher education internationally The book also contributes to the growing body of international and comparative scholarship on the capabilities approach in higher education and will therefore be of value to higher education practitioners such as those working in the promotion of teaching and learning higher education quality assurance institutional research and student affairs Education in a New South Africa Robert J. Balfour, 2015-09-24 A collaborative series with the University of Cambridge Faculty of Education highlighting leading edge research across Teacher Education International Education Reform and Language Education Campus Student Activism, Politics, and Citizenship in the 21st Century Tshishonga, Ndwakhulu, 2025-04-03 Student activism and citizenship remain an integral part of the governance of academic institutions democratizing the learning environment and advancing democratic values and societal change As a result student activism has become a key aspect of the global higher education landscape Individually and through the student councils students have been at the forefront fighting for social justice and equality inside their academic institutions and in larger society by fusing activism with citizenship Through student activism and citizenship students demonstrate their power to keep governments responsible and in redirecting the voices of students in higher education's decision making processes Further exploration may afford students the opportunity to influence social change by partaking in educational policy reforms and broadening global sociopolitical and economic growth Campus Student Activism Politics and Citizenship in the 21st Century examines the dynamics of campus politics through student activism and citizenship perspectives academia public private and civil society sectors It explores how student leadership engages university society stakeholders including management and governance structures and student welfare and institutional policy reformation in defense of the rights and interests of students This book covers topics such as higher education political engagement and social justice and is a useful resource for policymakers government officials sociologists political scientists academicians and researchers Quarterly Bulletin South African Reserve Bank, 2015
