Critical Issues in Early Childhood Teacher Education Ithel Jones, Miranda Lin, 2020-06-01 In recent years there have been significant changes in education across the globe largely as a result of changing demographics technological developments and increased globalization

Relatedly the changing needs of societies and families along with new research findings provide new directions in early childhood education. Consequently early childhood teachers today are faced with higher and more complex expectations to help ensure that their students achieve their full potential. Such expectations suggest that early childhood teachers should be professionals who are able to draw on a robust knowledge base in making educational decisions. It follows that teacher education programs should develop and implement innovative programs that can potentially enhance the quality of our future teachers. An awareness of pressing issues in the field of early childhood teacher education led the editors to develop this volume. The chapters in these two volumes bring together scholars from across the US and the globe who are interested in improving the quality of early childhood teacher education. The chapters present their experiences, perspectives, and lessons learned as they addressed some of the challenging issues concerning the education and preparation of future early childhood teachers. The various issues and perspectives from different states in the US or countries across the globe provide insights into current issues and dilemmas facing the field. The contributions of these scholars should inform the discourse on early childhood teacher education and help those who work with preservice teachers improve the quality of their work.

Research through Play Lorna Arnott, Kate Wall, 2021-05-05. Doing research with young children can be challenging for many reasons, but this book provides clear guidance on how to engage in appropriate methods. Focusing on researching through play, careful consideration is given to the founding principles of playful research, understanding young children's perspectives, prioritising the rights of the child, and the voice of the child. Examples of innovative research methods, real-life examples, and research projects are presented to enable common challenges to be anticipated and to showcase successful creative approaches and to inspire new paths in research.

Decolonizing Place in Early Childhood Education Fikile Nxumalo, 2019-05-23. This book draws attention to the urgent need for early childhood education to critically encounter and pedagogically respond to the entanglements of environmentally damaged places, anti-blackness, and settler colonial legacies. Drawing from the author's multi-year participatory action research with educators and children in suburban settings, the book highlights Indigenous presences and land relations within ongoing settler colonialism, as necessary yet often ignored aspects of environmental education. Chapters discuss topics such as geotheorizing in a capitalist society, absences of Black place relations, and unsettling unquestioned Western assumptions about nature education. Rather than offer prescriptive solutions, this book works to broaden possibilities and bolster the conversation among teachers and scholars concerned with early years environmental education.
