June 200625 Ms:

The New Orleans Jazz Scene, 1970–2000 Thomas W. Jacobsen, 2014-10-06 In 1966 journalist Charles Suhor wrote that New Orleans jazz was ready for its new Golden Age Thomas W Jacobsen's The New Orleans Jazz Scene 1970–2000 chronicles the resurgence of jazz music in the Crescent City in the years following Suhor's prophetic claim. Jacobsen, a New Orleans resident and longtime jazz aficionado, offers a wide-ranging history of the New Orleans jazz renaissance in the last three decades of the twentieth century, weaving local musical developments into the larger context of the national jazz scene. Jacobsen vividly evokes the changing face of the New Orleans jazz world at the close of the twentieth century. Drawing from an array of personal experiences and his own exhaustive research, he discusses leading musicians and bands both traditionalists and modernists as well as major performance venues and festivals. The city's musical infrastructure does not go overlooked as Jacobsen delves into New Orleans's music business, its jazz media, and the evolution of jazz education at public schools and universities. With a trove of more than seventy photographs of key players and performances, The New Orleans Jazz Scene 1970–2000 offers a vibrant and fascinating portrait of the musical genre that defines New Orleans.

Science Teaching in Schools Great Britain: Parliament: House of Lords: Science and Technology Committee, 2006-11-05 The Committee's report examines science and mathematics teaching in secondary schools in England, focusing on the following issues: the take-up of science and mathematics at GCSE and A level; the provision of careers advice to students; problems in the recruitment and retention of teachers; the quality of teaching methods and the role of continuing professional development. The Committee finds that effective science teaching in schools is essential both in order to ensure a satisfactory general level of scientific literacy in society and to enable the next generation of scientists and engineers to progress into higher education and beyond. It argues that the current examination system forces students to study an excessively narrow range of subjects at too early an age and it recommends that the Government should reconsider the Tomlinson proposals for a broader diploma-based system for 14–19 year old students based on the International Baccalaureate. This would ensure that students receive a more rounded education and are not made to over-specialise before they are able to see the merits of studying science and mathematics. Concerns are also raised about the shortage of science teachers, particularly specialist physics and chemistry teachers; the quality of careers advice in schools; and the importance of practical science in schools.

Natural Gas Monthly: June 2006 ,     Daily Graphic Yaw Boadu-Ayeboafoh,2006-06-07     City Adrift Center for Public Integrity,2007-06-01 Hurricane Katrina was a stunning example of complete civic breakdown Beginning on August 29 2005 the world watched in horror as despite all the warnings and studies every system that might have protected New Orleans failed Levees and canals buckled pouring more than 100 billion gallons of floodwater into the city Botched communications crippled rescue operations Buses that might have evacuated thousands never came Hospitals lost power and patients lay suffering in darkness and stifling heat At least 1 400 Louisianans died in Hurricane Katrina more than half of them from New Orleans and hundreds of thousands more were displaced many still wondering if they will ever be able to return How could all of this have happened in twenty first century America And could it all happen again To answer these questions the Center for Public Integrity commissioned seven seasoned journalists to travel to New Orleans and investigate the storm's aftermath. In City Adrift New Orleans Before and After Katrina they present their findings. The stellar roster of contributors includes Pulitzer Prize winner John McQuaid whose earlier work predicted the failure of the levees and the impending disaster; longtime Boston Globe newsman Curtis Wilkie a French Quarter resident for nearly fifteen years; and Katy Reckdahl an award winning freelance journalist who gave birth to her son in a New Orleans hospital the day before Katrina hit. They and the rest of the investigative team interviewed homeowners and health officials, first responders and politicians and evacuees and other ordinary citizens to explore the storm from numerous angles including health care, social services, housing and insurance and emergency preparedness. They also identify the political, social, geographical and technological factors that compounded the tragedy. Comprehensive and balanced, City Adrift provides not only an assessment of what went wrong in the Big Easy during and following Hurricane Katrina but also more importantly a road map of what must be done to ensure that such a devastating tragedy is never repeated.

Producing Women Michele White, 2015-03-02 Producing Women examines the ways femininity is produced through new media. Michele White considers how women are constructed, produce themselves as subjects, form vital production cultures on sites like Etsy and deploy technological processes to reshape their identities and digital characteristics. She studies the means through which women market traditional female roles, are viewed and produce and restructure their gendered, raced, eroticized and sexual identities. Incorporating a range of examples across numerous forms of media including trash, the dress, wedding, photography, Internet, how-to instructions about zombie walk, brides, nail polish, blogging, DIY crafting and reborn doll production. Producing Women elucidates women's production cultures online and the ways that individuals can critically study and engage with these practices.

Racial Reckoning Renee C. Romano, 2014-10-14 Few whites who violently resisted the civil rights struggle were charged with crimes in the 1950s and 1960s. But the tide of a long deferred justice began to change in 1994 when a Mississippi jury convicted Byron De La Beckwith for the 1963 murder of Medgar Evers. Since then, more than one hundred murder cases have been reopened resulting in more than a dozen trials. But how much did these public trials contribute to a public reckoning with America's racist past? Racial Reckoning investigates that question along with the political pressures and cultural forces that compelled the legal system to revisit these decades old crimes. A timely and significant work, Romano brilliantly demystifies the false binary of villainous white men like Beckwith or Edgar Ray Killen who represent vestiges of a violent racial past with a more enlightened, color blind society. Considering the current partisan and racial divide over the prosecution of police shootings of unarmed black men this book is a must read for historians legal analysts and journalists interested in understanding the larger meanings of civil rights or racially explosive trials in America
