It might be argued that the report's findings are biased because the study's participants—the police and other personnel who were interviewed—had positive feelings about the police. But it is unlikely that this is the case.

1. The first step in the process is to identify the problem or issue that needs to be addressed. This involves gathering information and understanding the context of the problem.

These findings suggest that there are some important differences between the two studies.

It must be noted that the results presented in this paper are preliminary and require further validation.

THE FOLLOWING ARE THE NAMES OF THE STUDENTS WHO PARTICIPATED IN THE STUDY:

Following these two completed issues in English, there will be a further three issues after a relatively short interval, with a fourth published in the autumn. The fourth issue will be the last, as the Commission is preparing the final version of the report and discussion documents for the Commission's final report.
