Creating Multicultural Change on Campus Raechele L. Pope, Amy L. Reynolds, John A. Mueller, 2014-07-21 Embrace the best practices for initiating multicultural change in individuals groups and institutions Higher education institutions have begun to take steps toward addressing multicultural issues on campuses but more often than not those in charge of the task have received little to no training in the issues that are paramount in serving culturally diverse students Creating Multicultural Change on Campus is a response to this problem offering new conceptualizations and presenting practical strategies and best practices for higher education professionals who want to foster the awareness knowledge and skills necessary for multicultural change on an institutional level In Creating Multicultural Change on Campus the authors of the classic text Multicultural Competence in Student Affairs delve deep into key concepts in multicultural organizational development guiding readers who want to enact change not just at the individual level but also at the group and institutional levels Readers will be introduced to frameworks that are crucial for creating inclusive welcoming and affirming campus environments You ll also find comprehensive examples from several institutions along with specific examples of effective multicultural practices that are useful for real world situations The book Provides the strategies frameworks and expert guidance for recognizing and addressing multicultural issues in institutions of higher learning Offers a rich understanding of both Multicultural Organizational Development MCO and the Multicultural Change Intervention Matrix MCIM and how these models are important for evaluating environments and outcomes Is appropriate for those who serve students directly as well as higher education leaders and administrators who create professional development programs Is designed as a practical guide and filled with specific examples to help readers apply strategies to their own campuses A much needed resource this book can help lead institutions toward meaningful action that will have a positive impact for all individuals in a student body and the professionals who serve them

An Examination of Multicultural Competence of Student Affairs Professionals in Community Colleges Darica Nechille Simon,2019 Developing a Measure of Multicultural Competence in Student Affairs Organizations Loretta Johnson-Flash,University of Vermont. College of Education and Social Services,2010 In recognizing the importance and complexity of multicultural organizational development in U S colleges and universities scholars and practitioners in higher education and student affairs have called for the continued development of models frameworks and instruments to help student affairs organizations assess and implement strategic and sustained multicultural organizational change Student Affairs Professionals' Level of Multicultural Competence Tasha Langdahl,2002 The Relationships Between Multicultural Competence, Racial Identity, and Multicultural Education and Experiences Among Student Affairs Professionals Responsible for First-year Student Orientation Programs ,2005 As the student population in American colleges and universities becomes increasingly diverse it has been argued that multicultural competence should be acknowledged and integrated as a core competency for the profession However there is relatively little research on multicultural competence in student affairs particularly as it relates to specific functional areas This study focusing on professionals responsible for first year student orientation programs explored the relationships between multicultural competence and racial identity multicultural education and experiences and demographic variables Additionally it explored the relationship between varying levels of multicultural competence and 1 the relative diversity of orientation student staffs 2 the degree to which multicultural issues are addressed in orientation student staff training and 3 the inclusion of multicultural programs during first year student orientation programs A national sample of 198 orientation professionals was solicited through professional association listservs and through the use of snowball sampling technique Each participant completed four self report instruments via a web survey Ex post facto correlational design was employed and correlations and regression analyses were utilized to examine the possible relationships between the variables considered Several important findings emerged from this study First race and identification with a socially marginalized group correlated significantly with multicultural competence Second racial identity was strongly related to multicultural competence even when controlling for the influence of demographic variables and social desirability Third multicultural education and multicultural experience contributed uniquely and significantly to multicultural competence Fourth the combination of racial identity multicultural education and multicultural experience significantly predicted multicultural competence scores And finally while no significant relationships were found between multicultural competence and the three specific areas of orientation practice examined the study provided evidence that more direct connections between multicultural competence research and practice are needed The implications of this study are discussed focusing on student affairs training and development orientation practice measurement of multicultural competence and directions for future research In sum this study contributes to the heretofore limited literature addressing multicultural competence in student affairs specifically within the functional area of orientation

The Journey of Developing Multicultural Competence: A Phenomenological Exploration of Lived Experience in Student Affairs Professionals Serena Ota St. Clair, 2007 Prior research has noted the changing demographics of higher education since the Civil Rights Movement and the expanded need for multicultural education Armando Hernandez Morales 2003 wrote that A multiculturally competent person is aware of and knowledgeable about cultural differences their own cultural identity and the history and contemporary struggles of marginalized groups Morales retrieved 2005 This study adds to the field by examining the life experiences that led to the development of multicultural competence in student affairs professionals using a qualitative research method Seven co researchers were selected from a pool of 17 adults who were currently working or had recently worked in student affairs and who had been nominated by their peers for demonstrating multicultural competencies Each of the co researchers was posed with five prompts The co researchers responses were recorded transcribed reviewed by the co researcher and then analyzed using phenomenology a qualitative research method outlined by Moustakas 1994 The first step in this process was the Epoche where the researcher disclosed her personal relationship to the questions Themes from the interviews were clustered into 14 themes that were then categorized into three realms personal professional and structural institutional The research concluded within the personal realm that the development of multicultural competence begins with a personal awareness of one's own multicultural background and an internal motivation for self improvement Within the professional realm in addition to continual training it is necessary to operate under a shared vision and philosophy and develop effective communication channels between departments Finally in the structural realm leadership must act under a set of guiding principles that value diversity and equity and that require the development of multicultural competencies This study adds a qualitative perspective to the field of multicultural competence illuminates the role of student affairs in this field suggests ways to support graduate training programs develop these skills in student affairs professionals and demonstrates the significance of personal background as the foundation of multicultural competence
