Persky, Brent A. Sandene, Janice M. Askew, 1998 The last several years have seen a growing resolve among educators and policymakers to assure the place of a solid arts education in U S schools In 1997 the National Assessment of Educational Progress NAEP conducted a national assessment in the arts at grade 8 The assessment included the areas of music theater and visual arts For each of these arts areas this Report Card describes the achievement of eighth graders within the general population and in various subgroups Taken with the information provided about instructional and institutional variables this report gives a context for evaluating the status of students learning in the arts The arts assessment was designed to measure the content specifications described in the arts framework for NAEP The arts have a unique capacity to integrate intellect emotions and physical skills in the creation of meaning Meaningful arts assessments need to be built around three arts processes creating performing and responding To capture these processes the arts assessment exercises included authentic tasks that assessed students knowledge and skills and constructed response and multiple choice questions that explore students abilities to describe analyze interpret and evaluate works of art in written form Data are reported in overall summaries for creating performing and responding in terms of student and school reported background variables Student results for theater are discussed in terms of teacher reported background variables as well The major findings of the assessment are that a large percentage of grade 8 students attend schools in which music and visual arts were taught usually by specialists most students attended schools in which instruction following district or state curricula was offered in music and visual arts but not in theater or dance and most visual arts and music instruction took place in school facilities that were dedicated to that subject JH     The Other Side of the Report Card Maurice J. Elias, Joseph J. Ferrito, Dominic C.

Mocer, 2015-12-14 To better serve the whole child look at the whole report card Students are more than their academic grades you know it and their parents know it The progress they make in social emotional learning and character development is essential to their success in school and in life But while educators have made great strides in improving grading for academic achievement we've left too many teachers still guessing when it comes to outdated behavior ratings and comment sections That's where this book comes in Grounded in research and in the author's work with teachers and administrators it offers guidance on retooling report cards to better reflect the whole child integrating SEL and CD into any school or district wide grading system Resources include Guided exercises for analyzing existing report cards Samples and suggested report card designs Tips on improving communication with parents Case studies highlighting common challenges Testimonials from teachers and students When you take report cards to the next level you make sure that communication reflects all of the important characteristics of success and ensure that students develop the skills they need for the future This book brilliantly illuminates the key role played by social emotional learning in each student's development and it challenges the tradition of relegating the SEL EQ observations to the back of the report card If we want to develop better communities this book shows the way Dr Neil MacNeill PhD EdD Head Master Ellenbrook Independent Primary School The ultimate goal of misbehavior is attention When children don't get the attention they need through the proper behavior they will get it any way they can Children want to be loved and cared about SEL will help them to learn the proper ways to get attention It will also help teachers better understand the misbehaviors and redirect students toward positive behavior Pamela L Opel Teacher

A Parents' Guide to Grading and Reporting Matt Townsley, Chad Lang, 2023-09-15 Whether resulting from the educational fallout of the COVID-19 global pandemic or merely challenging the status quo, more schools are transitioning their grading practices away from traditional points and percentages and toward 21st-century grading practices such as standards-based and proficiency-based grading. A Parents' Guide to Grading and Reporting: Being Clear about What Matters assists parents and guardians in understanding what is involved in 21st-century grading and how to become better partners with educators in efforts to understand students' strengths and areas for improvement.

Practical Solutions for Serious Problems in Standards-Based Grading Thomas R. Guskey, 2008-08-06 Implement standards-based grading practices that accurately and equitably report student achievement. Standards-based education poses a variety of challenges for grading and reporting practices. This edited volume examines critical issues in standards-based grading and provides specific suggestions for improving policies and practices at the school and classroom levels. The chapters describe traditional school practices that inhibit the implementation of standards-based grading; address how teachers can assign fair and accurate grades to English language learners and students with special needs; examine legal issues related to grading; discuss why report card grades and large-scale assessment scores may vary; and offer communication strategies with parents.

Mentoring African American Males Dr. William Ross, 2014-09-01 Mentoring African American Males provides important black male research and student performance data to guide the efforts of those who accept the enormous task of standing in the gap to increase black male achievement. Dr. Ross provides guidance for individuals and institutions embracing the important role of developing mentoring programs or serving as a mentor to youth. However, what makes Dr. Ross's work such a critically important book for any individual or institution considering such a role is its insight into the social-cultural framework within which mentoring must occur at every level, from elementary school through college. Equally insightful is the structure that such programs must take in response to the socio-cultural constructs of the families, communities, and institutions where they will occur. There are far more quantitative studies than qualitative on the topic of mentoring. This text addresses that discrepancy and provides the results of several qualitative studies on African American males. There is hardly any that offer a mixed-method perspective that combine quantitative and qualitative methodological approaches. This text reports on the research results that are qualitative in nature, in addition to some that are from a quantitative and mixed-method approach.
