

ENDOCRINE SYSTEM

Endocrine System: WORKING TOGETHER

Each organ system works on other systems within the body to do its "job". Our bodies learn just some of the ways that the endocrine system interacts with other organ systems.

Nervous System

Circulatory System

Endocrine System: FACTS

Endocrine System: PROBLEMS

Most of the time, the endocrine system works perfectly well. However, sometimes problems can arise.

Diabetes

Diabetes is a condition that causes high blood glucose (sugar) levels. It is caused by the body being unable to either produce or use the hormone insulin. So, the glucose (sugar) gets stuck in the blood. Symptoms include increased thirst, weight gain, changes in vision, frequent urination, increased hunger, mood swings, and changes in weight. Symptoms can also include slow healing of wounds, numbness or tingling in the hands.

Endocrine System: KEY TERMS

Term	Definition
Endocrine System	Network of endocrine glands that make, store, and release hormones.
Hormones	Chemical messengers that carry information and instructions from one cell to another.

Endocrine System: HORMONES

Hormones are chemical signals. Hormones are released by a gland into the bloodstream. They travel through the bloodstream and bind to target cells. This causes the target cells to perform a specific function. Hormones can be made by the endocrine system or by other parts of the body.

Endocrine System: FIGHT-OR-FLIGHT

The fight-or-flight response is a reaction that occurs in the body when we are really frightened. The body's fight-or-flight response is the body's way of reacting to a dangerous situation. When we feel scared, our body's fight-or-flight response is triggered. This causes our heart to beat faster, our breathing to become deeper, and our muscles to become tense. This helps us to react quickly to a dangerous situation.

When we are not frightened, our body's fight-or-flight response is turned off. This allows us to relax and go about our normal activities. The diagram shows the hormones that are released and the effect they have on the body.

Endocrine System: GLANDS

A gland is a structure that produces and releases substances that perform a specific function in the body. There are many glands in the body. Some glands are endocrine glands, which release hormones into the bloodstream. Other glands are exocrine glands, which release substances into the body through a duct. The diagram shows the location of the major endocrine glands in the body.

Endocrine System: FEEDBACK LOOPS

Endocrine activities are regulated by complex feedback loops. These feedback loops help the body maintain a balance of hormones. When a hormone level is too high or too low, the body's feedback loop is triggered. This causes the body to release more or less of the hormone to bring it back to a normal level.

The diagram shows the feedback loop for the hormone insulin. When blood sugar levels are high, the pancreas releases insulin. Insulin then acts on the cells to take up glucose from the blood, which lowers blood sugar levels. When blood sugar levels are low, the pancreas releases glucagon. Glucagon then acts on the liver to release glucose into the blood, which raises blood sugar levels.
