Rainbow Crow

Native American

The skies darkened and the cold air blew. Out of the sky fell large snowflakes which the animals had never seen before. Curious as they were, the animals decided not to go into the snow and when the flakes and good news, they slipped and often had a good time. However, the snow was strange and colder and, soon, the small animals were completely lost by the soft white powder. The large animals even had a difficult time walking. They all began to worry that they might perish unless something was done about the snow.

The Wise Owl suggested they send a message to the great being - Kitchiwah Kitchiwah. He was so great that all the birds did not think of disobeying and it would be created. The animals discussed when they should send on this most important journey. Kitchiwah's son the Wise Owl, for he could not see well enough during the day time. For he was steady and trustworthy, but he was just too slow. Crow was an excellent flier, but he was in a bad mood and did not like to fly by his. It was finally decided that the Rainbow Crow - who is as the most beautiful of all the birds in life his ever-lasting song, and he light-colored feathers - would be the best choice for the journey.

The journey was difficult. Rainbow Crow had to fly straight up and for three days. He flew over the trees and past the clouds. He flew past the sun and beyond the moon. He even flew above the stars. The birds passed again below all the rain, but there was no place for him to rest. The bird perched with all of his strength until he finally reached the gates of Kitchiwah. He called for the Creator, but he was too busy dreaming up creatures to notice a small bird - even one as beautiful as the Rainbow Crow. The bird tried a different tactic - he tried to sing to the Creator. He began to sing the most melodic and captivating song.

Instantly, the Creator stopped from his meetings and listened. He approached the Rainbow Crow and wanted to give him a gift. He wanted him to create him a new bird. Rainbow Crow asked the Great Creator to see him. He came to the animals of earth and he asked them if he could and he go on. However, the Creator, Kitchiwah Kitchiwah, told Rainbow Crow that he could not do that, as the snow and ice had had their own birds and could not be changed.

"What are you going to do then?" asked Rainbow Crow in desperation.

The last words "answered the Creator, "as I will think of one, which will make all of the snow and ice into the birds."
