Feminisms and Ruralities Barbara Pini, Berit Brandth, Jo Little, 2014-12-18 Feminist concern with difference has rarely extended to rurality even if it is now widely recognized that experiences of inequality depend on intersections of several identities in each individual life This lack of concern may reflect the urban background of the majority of feminist academics or at least their urban positionality once in the academy It may equivalently be that feminists have been influenced by stereotypes of rural women as traditional and reactionary and thus seen them as unlikely exponents of gender equality and an unfruitful focus for scholarly energies Perhaps the problem is a broader one that is reflective of the much documented but still apparent unwillingness of many feminists to recognize and address difference in any of its manifestations Regardless even with the recent interest in intersectionality which has necessarily renewed and reenergized debates in feminism about diversity and inclusion the question of how women are differently positioned because of their non metropolitan location has remained largely overlooked Calendar University of Hull, 1980 Cambridge IGCSE Geography Revision Guide

Student's Book David Davies, 2014-04-17 Cambridge IGCSE Geography Revision Guide has been designed specifically to meet the requirements of Cambridge IGCSE Geography syllabus 0460 It has been written to help students prepare for the Cambridge IGCSE Geography examination The book instills confidence by improving the students understanding of key concepts and adds focus to their revision Energy Consumption and Aging Populations Shigeru

Matsumoto, 2025-02-21 This book explores the impact of population aging on energy use patterns in society from both a theoretical and an empirical angle with a specific focus on Japan and Spain Many developed countries are currently experiencing both population aging and population decline while the demand for social services such as health care and public transportation is expected to increase This book expands upon these well known socioeconomic challenges and explores the less well known and more complex relationship between population aging time allocation to social practices and energy resource consumption In the face of energy supply scarcity and climate change concerns the impact of population aging on energy consumption is of paramount importance By focusing on the effects of changing time allocation patterns on social practices the book shows that the impact of population aging on energy consumption will affect not just only affect the residential sector but also other socio economic sectors of society Using data from Japan and Spain currently among the fastest aging countries in the world the volume shows that the challenges of an aging society are far more complex and worrying than previously anticipated If an aging society is an inevitable future we need to prepare for the challenges that lie ahead Written by researchers in the fields of demography economics environmental engineering geography physics and transportation engineering this book will compel academics and policy makers to reflect on these problems and act

Food Sovereignty and Urban Agriculture Anne Siebert,2022-07-08 This book analyses the interplay of urban agriculture and food sovereignty through the innovative lens of the critical urban food perspective It focuses on the mobilisation of urban food producers as a powerful response to highly exclusionary dynamics in the agri food system including insufficient food access and disastrous land dispossessions This volume particularly aims to fill the gap in the current literature by engaging with food sovereignty discourses and movements in urban areas Related activism of urban food producers in the Global South remains underrepresented in practice and in literature Therefore this book engages with the lived realities of an urban agriculture initiative in George South Africa Building on theoretical notions of the right to the city and everyday forms of resistance the book illuminates how deprived food producers expose inequalities and propose alternatives The findings of in depth empirical research reveal that dwellers perceive farming as a mean to overcome historical segregation high food prices and unhealthy nutrition Hence they breathe life into food sovereignty in practice and suggest further alliances beyond the city The book will be of interest to scholars and students of alternative food politics agrarian transformation and food movements as well as rural urban intersections

Uneven Economic Resilience of Old Industrial Cities in China Xiaohui Hu,2024-03-12 Taking the Chinese context seriously this book provides critical reflections and policy informed accounts of how and why old industrial cities generate uneven resilience in the face of crisis It offers unconventional conceptualizations and on the ground empirical studies in the Chinese context when it comes to the literature on regional economic resilience Theoretically this book adopts multiple perspectives including evolutionary complex adaptive systems and institutional and geographical political economy to provide a more systematic understanding of regional economic resilience in Chinese old industrial cities Empirically this book adopts a comparative analysis approach to explore the in depth nature of uneven regional economic resilience by focusing on two coal mining regions in China The book also makes an additional and timely academic contribution to the literature on the conceptualization and empirics of regional economic resilience under the COVID 19 pandemic crisis This book is suitable for undergraduate and graduate students and scholars interested in economic geography in general and regional economic resilience regional industrial dynamics and old industrial cities in China in particular It is also a useful reference for local and regional governments as well as businesses for policy making and action in the face of crisis

The New Oxford Handbook of Economic Geography Dariusz Wójcik,2018-01-04 The first fifteen years of the 21st century have thrown into sharp relief the challenges of growth equity stability and sustainability facing the world economy In addition they have exposed the inadequacies of mainstream economics in providing answers to these challenges This volume gathers over 50 leading scholars from around the world to offer a forward looking perspective of economic geography to understanding the various building blocks relationships and trajectories in the world economy The perspective is at the same time grounded in theory and in the experiences of particular places Reviewing state of the art of economic geography setting agendas and with illustrations and empirical evidence from all over the world the book should be an essential reference for students researchers as well as strategists and policy makers Building on the success of the first edition this volume offers a radically revised updated and broader approach to economic geography With the backdrop of the global financial crisis finance is investigated in chapters on financial stability financial innovation global financial networks the global map of savings and investments and financialization Environmental challenges are addressed in chapters on resource economies vulnerability of regions to climate change carbon markets and energy transitions Distribution and consumption feature alongside more established topics on the firm innovation and work The handbook also captures the theoretical and conceptual innovations of the last fifteen years including evolutionary economic geography and the global production networks approach Addressing the dangers of inequality instability and environmental crisis head on the volume concludes with strategies for growth and new ways of envisioning the spatiality of economy for the future The Oxford

Handbook of Higher Education Systems and University Management Gordon Redding, Antony Drew, Stephen Crump, 2019-06-20 The world's systems of higher education HE are caught up in the fourth industrial revolution of the twenty first century Driven by increased globalization demographic expansion in demand for education new information and communications technology and changing cost structures influencing societal expectations and control higher education systems across the globe are adapting to the pressures of this new industrial environment To make sense of the complex changes in the practices and structures of higher education this Handbook sets out a theoretical framework to explain what higher education systems are how they may be compared over time and why comparisons are important in terms of societal progress in an increasingly interconnected world Drawing on insights from over 40 leading international scholars and practitioners the chapters examine the main challenges facing institutions of higher education how they should be managed in changing conditions and the societal implications of different approaches to change Structured around the premise that higher education plays a significant role in ensuring that a society achieves the capacity to adjust itself to change while at the same time remaining cohesive as a social system this Handbook explores how current internal and external forces disturb this balance and how institutions of higher education could and might respond History Teaching P.
