Energy cannot be created or destroyed. However, it can transform from one form into another. For example, when you turn on a fan, the electrical energy is transformed into the mechanical energy of the fan blades moving. When you turn on a light, the electrical energy is transformed into the light energy of the light bulb.

Energy can move from one place to another, such as through a wire, or through space, or through a vacuum.

Energy can change from one form to another, such as when it is transformed from one form to another. For example, when you turn on a fan, the electrical energy is transformed into the mechanical energy of the fan blades moving. When you turn on a light, the electrical energy is transformed into the light energy of the light bulb.

Here are some other examples of energy transformations:

light	heat	sound
