Rage Debra Webb, 2013-04-30 When Jess Harris moved back to her Alabama hometown she thought she'd left her past behind her. But the blood bath the new Major Crimes deputy chief finds at a murder scene is beyond even the savagery of Eric Spears the serial killer who now haunts Jess's life with terrifying text messages. Amid eerie echoes of the Charles Manson massacre Jess investigates the dismemberment of a cop's wife while her baby lay sleeping down the hall. The discovery of two more headless victims makes Jess wonder if it's a gang related slaying a personal vendetta or something else. And the sudden reappearance of her ex husband makes her question her future with Chief of Police Dan Burnett. Now as the net widens to include a shocking suspect Jess realizes that the identity of the killer may lie with an autistic eight year old boy. With inner city tensions at an all time high and the community calling for blood Jess must race to save an innocent child and prevent a final horrifying act of rage. How to create an environment where new ideas inspire rather than frighten. How to work with teams to make change inevitable. While female authors and women in the book trades have long been studied gender itself has yet to be explored as a methodology rather than a subject in book history We argue that putting gender analysis into practice requires thinking inclusively about both the book world and the interactions of its participants from the beginning With twenty five pioneering case studies that stretch from colonial Peru to modern Delhi using a variety of intersectional methodologies including network analysis critical bibliography and queer theory Gender and the Book Trades sets out an innovative method of analysing the printed book Contributors Rebecca Baumann Montserrat Cachero Verónica Calsoni Lima Matthew Chambers Kanupriya Dhingra Nora Epstein Natalia Fantetti Jessica Farrell Jobst Agnes Gehbald Rabia Gregory Laura Guinot Ferri Elizabeth Le Roux Sarah Lubelski Natalia Maillard Ivarez Charley Matthews Susan McElrath Kirk Melnikoff Malcolm Noble Kate Ozment Joanna Rozendaal Kandice Sharren Valentina Sonzini Elise Watson Joelle Weis Helen Williams Alexandra E Wingate and Georgianna Ziegler The Round

Search for a Usable Past Ian Hugh Clary, 2020-09-07 The question of how theology shapes a Christian historian's reading of the past has been debated thoroughly in various academic periodicals Should historians recognise the role of providence in their accounts of past events Should they sympathise with their subject's theology Can objectivity be lost due to theological bias And last but not least is there a compromise of faith if one writes natural instead of supernatural history Such questions are important for understanding the historian's profession Arnold Dallimore who trained and specialised in pastoral ministry in Canada wrote an influential biography of the revivalist George Whitefield as well as others on Charles and Susanna Wesley Edward Irving and Charles Spurgeon How did his Reformed theological perspective impact his historiography How does his work fit into larger historiographical debates concerning the nature of Christian history While other books look at Christian historiography using abstract and methodological approaches this book examines the subject precisely by looking at the life and work of an individual historian It does so by placing Dallimore in the context of being a minister in twentieth century Canada as well as his role in the development of Reformed Theology in the Anglosphere It also examines the quality of his various biographies focusing on key issues such as the nature of religious revival the problem of Christianity and slavery and the question of charismatic religious experience His study concludes by examining the relationship between the discipline and profession of church history and asking what is required for one to be considered a church historian Tactile
