Learn How to Not Suck Greg Larson, 2014-12-31 Whether it was a 62 mile spirit quest hike amid Australia's southern rainforests or the homemade boat he and his best friend sailed across a northern Minnesota lake Greg Larson's college mantra Push Your Comfort Zones almost got him killed more than once Learn How to Not Suck is a college memoir that journeys with Greg Larson a rambunctious student with a penchant for adventure through successes and failures that eventually lead him to redemption before commencement although not in the ways he had hoped for or expected Follow Greg as he pursues his dreams of being a stand up comedian eventually performing twice in front of crowds of more than 700 people and running his own weekly comedy show Stick with him when he is cut from a Division III baseball team before transferring schools and earning a scholarship with a Division I team Support him even after he immerses himself in the world of Pick Up Artistry only to become somehow worse with women and fail with all but one Learn How to Not Suck utilizes these experiences and more as it takes an atypical route to illustrate a well known but often overlooked point college is about finding and eventually being yourself no matter how much you screw up along the way The Educational Times, and Journal of the College of Preceptors, 1921 Educational Times and Journal of the College of Preceptors, 1921

Lehrer is flirting with Declan's crush and always ditching him to hang out with the team or his friends from synagogue. So Declan ends up playing a lot of Imperialist Empires online and making new friends. It's there he realizes he's been playing with Finn, a kid from his class. Finn is the first person who might be just as angry as Declan. He gets it. As the two spend more time together, Finn also introduces Declan to others who understand what it's like when the world is working against you, no matter how much you try. How white kids like them are being denied opportunities because others are manipulating the system. And the more time Declan spends with Finn, the more he sees what they're saying as true. So when his new friends decide it's time to fight back, Declan is right there with them. Even if it means going after Jake and his family. And each new battle for the cause makes Declan feel in control of his rage, channeling it into saving his future. But when things turn deadly, Declan is going to have to decide just how far he'll go and what he's willing to sacrifice. In a stunning story set against the rise of white nationalism, comes an unflinching exploration of the destruction of hate, the power of fear, and the hope of redemption.

Rethinking Racism Jennifer Seibel Trainor, 2008-11-04. In Rethinking Racism: Emotion, Persuasion, and Literacy Education in an All-White High School, Jennifer Seibel Trainor proposes a new understanding of the roots of racism, one that is based on attention to the role of emotion and the dynamics of persuasion. This one-year ethnographic study argues against previous assumptions about racism, demonstrating instead how rhetoric and emotion, as well as the processes and culture of schools, are involved in the formation of racist beliefs. Telling the story of a year spent in an all-white high school, Trainor suggests that, contrary to prevailing opinion, racism often does not stem from ignorance, a lack of exposure to other cultures, or the desire to protect white privilege. Rather, the causes of racism are frequently found in the realms of emotion and language, as opposed to rational calculations of privilege or political ideologies. Trainor maintains that racist assertions often originate not from prejudiced attitudes or beliefs, but from metaphorical connections between racist ideas and nonracist values These values are reinforced even promoted by schooling via emotioned rules in place in classrooms in tacit unexamined lessons rituals and practices that exert a powerful though largely unacknowledged persuasive force on student feelings and beliefs about race Through in depth analysis of established anti racist pedagogies student behavior and racial discourses Trainor illustrates the manner in which racist ideas are subtly upheld through social and literacy education in the classroom and are thus embedded in the infrastructures of schools themselves It is the emotional and rhetorical framework of the classroom that lends racism its compelling power in the minds of students even as teachers endeavor to address the issue of cultural discrimination This effort is continually hindered by an incomplete understanding of the function of emotions in relation to antiracist persuasion and cannot be remedied until the root of the problem is addressed Rethinking Racism calls for a fresh approach to understanding racism and its causes offering crucial insight into the formative role of schooling in the perpetuation of discriminatory beliefs In addition this highly readable narrative draws from white students own stories about the meanings of race in their learning and their lives It thus provides new ways of thinking about how researchers and teachers represent whiteness Blending narrative with more traditional forms of ethnographic analysis Rethinking Racism uncovers the ways in which constructions of racism originate in literacy research and in our classrooms and how these constructions themselves can limit the rhetorical positions students enact
