Lebanese Brevet Official Exam:

School Inclusion in Lebanon Anies Al-Hroub, Nidal Jouni, 2023-11-15 This book addresses the impact of inclusion on the performance of students with and without special needs in Lebanese schools. It examines the performance of regular students to the performance of students with learning disabilities LD and gifted students as perceived by them to identify the population that is best served by inclusion. The book investigates three domains affecting student performance in inclusive settings: management and organization, Teaching and learning, and student support and school ethos. In addition, it compares the ways in which these domains affect student performance for each population. In addition, the book presents a detailed description of the inclusive practices that affect student performance and the indicators that contribute most positively to fostering the performance of regular students, gifted students, and students with LD. Finally, it describes the inclusion model applied and proved empirically to affect the positive performance of all student groups as a response to the increasing call for inclusive schooling in Lebanon. Key areas of coverage include Inclusive education, social justice and equity in Lebanese schools, Student perceptions of inclusion in Lebanon, Inclusion of gifted learners and students with learning disabilities, Comparison of student performance among different populations in inclusive settings, Domains affecting student performance in inclusive settings, Proposed model of student inclusion in Lebanese schools. School Inclusion in Lebanon is an essential resource for researchers, professionals, and policymakers and graduate students in such interrelated fields as school psychology, inclusive education, educational psychology, and social work.

Teen Lives around the World Karen Wells, 2019-11-08 This two volume encyclopedia looks at the lives of teenagers around the world, examining topics from a typical school day to major issues that teens face today, including bullying, violence, sexuality, and social and financial pressures. Teenagers are living in a rapidly changing and increasingly interconnected yet unequal world. Whether they live in Australia or Zimbabwe, they have in common that they are between childhood and adulthood and increasingly aware of how inequality is affecting their lives and futures. This encyclopedia gives a different perspective based on the experiences of teens in 60 countries. Each entry gives the reader a brief sketch of a country to help readers understand how geography, history, economics, and politics shape teen life. The entries include a country overview and cover the following topics: Schooling and Education, Extracurricular Activities, Art, Music, and Sports, Family and Social Life, Religions, and Cultural Rites of Passage, Rights and Legal Status, and Issues Today. Special sidebars called Teen Voices appear throughout the text and include a description of a typical day in the life of a teen in various countries. Students will be able to gain a better understanding of what life is like around the world for their peers and will be able to easily make cross-cultural comparisons between different countries.

Mathematics Teacher Education A.J. Dawson, Barbara Jaworski, Terry Wood, 2003-09-02 Currently, there is substantial exchange and communication between academic communities around the world as researchers endeavour to discover why so many children fail at a subject that society deems crucial for future economic survival. This book charts current thinking and trends in teacher education around the world and looks critically at the inservice education of maths teachers The contributors explore the processes practices and issues in teacher education projects in ten countries and these are then discussed and related to current philosophies of teacher education The book provides an insight into the successes and shortcomings of many different approaches to maths education Syrian Refugee Children in the Middle East and Europe Michelle Pace,Somdeep Sen,2018-04-09

Since the start of the conflict in Syria in 2011 Syrian refugee children have withstood violence uncertainty fear trauma and loss This book follows their journeys by bringing together scholars and practitioners to reflect on how to make their situation better and to get this knowledge to as many front liners across European and neighbouring countries in the Middle East as possible The book is premised on the underlying conception of refugee children as not merely a vulnerable contingent of the displaced Syrian population but one that possesses a certain agency for change and progress In this vein the various contributions aim to not just de securitize the conversation on migration that frequently centres on the presumed insecurity that refugees personify They also de securitize the figure and image of the refugee Through the stories of the youngest and most vulnerable they demonstrate that refugee children are not mere opaque figures on who we project our insecurities Instead they embody potentials and opportunities for progress that we need to nurture as young refugees find themselves compelled to both negotiate the practical realities of a life in exile and situate themselves in changing and unfamiliar sociocultural contexts Drawing on extensive field research this edited volume points in the direction of a new rights based framework which will safeguard the future of these children and their well being Offering a comparative lens between approaches to tackling refugees in the Middle East and Europe this book will appeal to students and scholars of refugees and migration studies human rights as well as anyone with an interest in the Middle East or Europe Survival Against Multiple Odds Chafic Abi Said,2003 Researching Cultures of Learning Lixian Jin,2013-01-02

International Journal of Educational Reform,Charles J. Russo, Ed.D., J.D., Panzer Chair in Education, University of Dayton,2019-01-31 Palestine Refugees Today ,1993 Cross-Cultural Comparisons of Science Education Shahat, Mohamed A.,Al-Balushi, Sulaiman M.,2025-04-25 Science education varies across cultures influenced by factors like educational philosophy societal values economic conditions and historical contexts Cross cultural comparisons of science education offer valuable insights into how different countries approach the teaching of scientific concepts and skills as well as the outcomes they achieve. These comparisons reveal the diverse ways in which science is integrated into curricula, the teaching methods used, and the resources available to both educators and students. By examining the strengths and challenges of various educational systems, we can better understand how cultural contexts shape students' engagement with science, their ability to critically think, and the overall impact on scientific literacy. Such comparisons provide opportunities for mutual learning and the potential to improve science education globally by adopting the best practices from different cultural settings.

Cross Cultural Comparisons of Science Education examines the problems involved in cross cultural comparisons in science education by drawing on past studies investigating cultural differences. It explores teaching practices and student learning outcomes, considering different concepts of quality teaching and the impact of cultural characteristics on science education. This book covers topics such as mathematics, sociology, and teacher training, and is a useful resource for sociologists, educators, academicians, researchers, and scientists. Education in the Middle East Leslie C. World Education Encyclopedia Rebecca Marlow-Ferguson, 2002. This country-by-country survey of educational systems provides detailed essays on the histories, legal foundations, and primary and secondary educational systems of 233 countries. This updated and expanded edition gives users up-to-date coverage of reorganized educational systems and high interest topics such as technological advances.

Political Economy of Education in Lebanon Husein Abdul-Hamid, Mohamed Yassine, 2020-03-18. Education is a source of national pride in Lebanon. When the general public was asked how the education system was performing, 76 percent of respondents had a positive opinion, and these satisfaction rates have been consistently high over the years. However, perception of education quality does not reflect the reality of the sector, and learning outcomes, which are the determining metrics of success in education, have been lower than the international average with a declining trend since 2007. This volume seeks to uncover why the education system in Lebanon is not reaching its full potential. It uses a political economy approach to study the drivers and factors that guide education operations to produce and utilize education outcomes. This includes the study of context, stakeholders, and processes that shape education policies, institutions, and activities. It also aims to identify enablers of and constraints on policy change and implementation, as well as the achievement of results. In this context, the analysis encompasses how education policies are developed, how education consumables such as curricula, textbooks, and learning materials are produced, distributed, and used by learners, how education services are delivered and monitored, and how achieved results are measured. It includes the identification of the most influential actors in the education arena, as well as their vested interests. It also examines unfavorable frameworks for action that are likely to block the adoption of reforms and delay or derail their implementation. The system-level analysis presented in this volume used a mixed method approach. Qualitative and quantitative analyses were conducted based on a review and analysis of more than 1,900 research papers.
