Paine,Heather Y. Paine,2012-12-06 This is the second edition of a successful title first published in 1983 and now therefore a decade out of date The authors consider the development of the right package for a particular food in a particular market from the point of view of the food technologist the packaging engineer and those concerned with marketing While the original format has been retained the contents have been thoroughly revised to take account of the considerable advances made in recent years in the techniques of food processing packaging and distribution While efficient packaging is even more a necessity for every kind of food whether fresh or processed and is an essential link between the food producer and the consumer the emphasis on its several functions has changed Its basic function is to identify the product and ensure that it travels safely through the distribution system to the consumer Packaging designed and constructed solely for this purpose adds little or nothing to the value of the product merely preserving farm or processor freshness or preventing physical damage and cost effectiveness is the sole criterion for success If however the packaging facilitates the use of the product is reusable or has an after use some extra value can be added to justify the extra cost and promote sales Many examples of packaging providing such extra value can be cited over the last decade     Youth's Companion ,1927     The Youth's Companion ,1916 Includes songs for solo voice with piano accompaniment     Confectionery Packaging Equipment Jeffrey H. Hooper,2012-12-06 The machinery about which I am writing is found in the confectionery industry but it is also generally used throughout the food industry and some other areas that produce items that need to be wrapped and packed for distribution It just happens that much of my working life was spent in the confectionery industry Similar machinery operates in the pharmaceutical industry is used for wrapping and handling books for wrapping blocks of fuel and for packing tea and other items Some of the robots described are used in the glass industry loading drinking glasses direct from hot moulding plants They are used to load filled bottles into cases in the drinks business or shampoo for chemical manufacturers Other industries for example the textile industry used machinery designed for other purposes such as weaving before the development of packaging machines that worked on comparable principles Some of the mechanisms in all of this machinery possibly have their ancestry in the great cathedral clock mechanisms from as early as the fifteenth century Just because this book is mainly illustrated by reference to chocolate bars and sweets does not mean that that is the only application nor does it lessen the ingenuity applied in the designs of these machines or their importance in the modern world
