Farwell's Rules of the Nautical Road this book was designed to bring clarity and context to international law for the seagoing professional. Following an introduction to public international law and a short history of the law of the sea, the book describes the rules that apply in ports and in the adjacent maritime zones including the territorial sea, exclusive economic zone, archipelagic waters, and the high seas. A highlight of the book are the chapters that focus on subjects of greatest interest to the seagoing professional including military and intelligence activities in the maritime domain, maritime law enforcement activities, and the use of force at sea. The appendices include the text of the 1982 UN Convention on the Law of the Sea and the U.S. Senate's understandings of key provisions of the convention. Whether an academy cadet, a midshipman, a seasoned commanding officer, or master mariner, readers of this thorough and timely book will be rewarded with a far greater understanding of the international laws that govern ships and mariners at sea. New in this edition: Over a dozen new cases by courts and arbitration panels interpreting UNCLOS including the South China Sea dispute between the Philippines and China; Coverage of Commercial Seafarer protections under Maritime Labor Convention; Global Responses to the Mediterranean Migrant Crisis; Coverage of the law protecting our vital submarine cables; Expanded coverage of unmanned and autonomous vessels and aircraft; Coverage on vessel health, safety, and quarantine measures applicable in the COVID-19 Pandemic. A new chapter surveying issues the U.S. Senate should consider in any decision regarding ratification of UNCLOS. A new appendix setting out the U.S. Navy and Coast Guard policies on sovereign immunity of government vessels and aircraft.

Freshwater Fisheries Ecology John F. Craig, 2016-01-12 Inland fisheries are vital for the livelihoods and food resources of humans worldwide, but their importance is underestimated, probably because large numbers of small local operators are involved. Freshwater Fisheries Ecology defines what we have globally, what we are going to lose, and what to mitigate for, and what, given the right tools, we can save. To estimate potential production, the dynamics of freshwater ecosystems, rivers, lakes, and estuaries need to be understood. These dynamics are diverse, as are the earth's freshwater fisheries resources, from boreal to tropical regions, and these influence how fisheries are both utilized and abused. Three main types of fisheries are illustrated within the book: artisanal, commercial, and recreational, and the tools which have evolved for fisheries governance and management, including assessment methods, are described. The book also covers, in detail, fisheries development, providing information on improving fisheries through environmental and habitat evaluation, enhancement, and rehabilitation; aquaculture; genetically modified fishes; and sustainability. The book thoroughly reviews the negative impacts on fisheries, including excessive harvesting, climate change, toxicology, impoundments, barriers, and abstractions, non-native species, and eutrophication. Finally, key areas of future research are outlined. Freshwater Fisheries Ecology is truly a landmark publication, containing contributions from over 100 leading experts and supported by the Fisheries Society of the British Isles. The global approach makes this book essential reading for fish biologists, fisheries scientists, and ecologists, and upper-level students in these disciplines. Libraries in all universities and research establishments where biological and fisheries sciences are studied and taught should have multiple copies of this hugely valuable resource About the Editor John Craig is Editor in Chief of the Journal of Fish Biology and has an enormous range of expertise and a wealth of knowledge of freshwater fishes and their ecology having studied them around the globe including in Asia North America Africa the Middle East and Europe His particular interests have been in population dynamics and life history strategies He is a Fellow of the Linnean Society of London and the Royal Society of Biology
