Decolonising Media and Communication Studies Education in Sub-Saharan Africa Selina Linda Mudavanhu, Shepherd Mpofu, Kezia Batisai, 2023-10-27 The book provides insights on decolonising media and communication studies education from diverse African scholars at different stages of their careers These academics located on the continent and in the diaspora share an interest in decolonising higher education broadly and media and communication studies teaching and learning in particular Although many African countries gained flag independence from different European colonial powers between the 1950s and the 1970s this book argues that former colonies remain ensnared in a colonial power matrix Many African universities did not jettison ways of teaching and learning established during colonialism and even those journalism communication and media studies training programmes which were established after the attainment of flag independence did not place decolonial agendas at the front and centre when setting them up Starting with big picture thematic questions around decolonisation the book goes on to consider what the implications of change would be for students and instructors before reflecting on how far it is possible to decolonise curricula and syllabi and what this might look like in practice across a range of subject areas and country contexts Overall this book presents a nuanced picture of what a decolonised media and communication studies education could look like in sub Saharan Africa This book is essential for researchers in Africa in disciplines such as media and communication studies journalism film studies cultural studies and higher education studies More broadly the concepts and ideas on decolonising teaching and learning discussed in the book are relevant to instructors in any discipline who are interested in doing the decolonial work of contesting coloniality

Evidence-based Medicine: Best Practice Or Restrictive Dogma Desmond J Sheridan, 2016-03-29 The concept of evidence based medicine was launched in 1991 as a new paradigm to inform medical practice and has risen to be regarded as the gold standard It rapidly gained the attention of medics health service managers and the general media as it presented a means to improve efficiency and effectiveness of service delivery Despite its stunning success in capturing the health agenda the campaign that launched evidence based medicine has also attracted criticism particularly from clinicians and philosophers concerned about its selective views of knowledge and evidence and for its denigration of reasoning clinical experience and judgement Evidence Based Medicine traces this movement from its launch to its meteoric rise examining what it has done for healthcare and medicine in the context of changes in science policy and the long running criticism held against the movement for its inherent weaknesses As evidence based medicine will remain an important feature of healthcare in the decades to come this book is perfect for healthcare professionals medical scientists health service managers and public health experts looking for a critical examination of the topic Preventive and Community Medicine in Primary Care

Literature and Intellectual Disability in Early Modern England Alice Equestri,2021-08-30 Fools and clowns were widely popular characters employed in early modern drama prose texts and poems mainly as laughter makers or also as ludicrous metaphorical embodiments of human failures Literature and Intellectual Disability in Early Modern England Folly Law and Medicine 1500 1640 pays full attention to the intellectual difference of fools rather than just their performativity what does their total partial or even pretended irrationality entail in terms of non standard psychology or behaviour and others perception of them Is it possible to offer a close contextualised examination of the meaning of folly in literature as a disability And how did real people having intellectual disabilities in the Renaissance period influence the representation and subjectivity of literary fools Alice Equestri answers these and other questions by investigating the wide range of significant connections between the characters and Renaissance legal and medical knowledge as presented in legal records dictionaries handbooks and texts of medicine natural philosophy and physiognomy Furthermore by bringing early modern folly in closer dialogue with the burgeoning fields of disability studies and disability theory this study considers multiple sides of the argument in the historical disability experience intellectual disability as a variation in the person and as a difference which both society and the individual construct or respond to Early modern literary fools characterisation then emerges as stemming from either a realistic or also from a symbolical or rhetorical representation of intellectual disability

The Politics of Potential Michelle Pentecost,2024-01-12 The first one thousand days of human life or the period between conception and age two is one of the most pivotal periods of human development Optimizing nutrition during this time not only prevents childhood malnutrition but also determines future health and potential The Politics of Potential examines early life interventions in the first one thousand days of life in South Africa drawing on fieldwork from international conferences government offices health care facilities and the everyday lives of fifteen women and their families in Cape Town

Michelle Pentecost explores various aspects of a politics of potential a term that underlines the first one thousand days concept and its effects on clinical care and the lives of childbearing women in South Africa Why was the First One Thousand Days project so readily adopted by South Africa and many other countries Pentecost not only explores this question but also discusses the science of intergenerational transmissions of health disease and human capital and how this constitutes new forms of intergenerational responsibility The women who are the target of first one thousand days interventions are cast as both vulnerable and responsible for the health of future generations such that despite its history intergenerational responsibility in South Africa remains entrenched in powerfully gendered and racialized ways Yearbook of

Hugo ka Canham, 2023-02-01 In Riotous Deathscapes Hugo ka Canham presents an understanding of life and death based on indigenous and black ways of knowing that he terms Mpondo theory Focusing on amaMpondo people from rural Mpondoland in South Africa's Eastern Cape Canham outlines the methodologies that have enabled the community's resilience and survival He assembles historical events and a cast of ancestral and living characters following the tenor of village life to offer a portrait of how Mpondo people live and die in the face of centuries of abandonment trauma antiblackness and death Canham shows that Mpondo theory is grounded in and develops in relation to the natural world where the river and hill are key sites of being and resistance Central too is the interface between ancestors and the living in which life and death become a continuity and a boundlessness that white supremacy and neoliberalism cannot interdict By charting a course of black life in Mpondoland Canham tells a story of blackness on the African continent and beyond Duke University Press Scholars of Color First Book Award Recipient Envisioning African Intersex Amanda Lock Swarr, 2023-01-30 Amanda Lock Swarr debunks the centuries old claim hermaphroditism and intersex are disproportionately common among black South Africans by interrogating how contemporary intersex medicine its indivisibility from colonial ideologies and scientific racism Cuba and Africa, 1959-1994 Kali Argyriadis, Giulia Bonacci, Adrien Delmas, 2020-11-01 A history of Atlantic solidarity between Cuba and Africa in struggle for African independence from colonial powers The Cuban people hold a special place in the hearts of the people of Africa The Cuban internationalists have made a contribution to African independence freedom and justice unparalleled for its principled and selfless character As Nelson Mandela states Cuba was a key participant in the struggle for the independence of African countries during the Cold War and the definitive ousting of colonialism from the continent. Beyond the military interventions that played a decisive role in shaping African political history, there were many-sided engagements between the island and the continent. Cuba and Africa 1959-1994 is the story of tens of thousands of individuals who crossed the Atlantic as doctors, scientists, soldiers, students, and artists. Each chapter presents a case study from Algeria to Angola, from Equatorial Guinea to South Africa, and shows how much of the encounter between Cuba and Africa took place in non-militaristic fields: humanitarian and medical, scientific and educational, cultural and artistic. The historical experience and the legacies documented in this book speak to the major ideologies that shaped the colonial and postcolonial world, including internationalism, developmentalism, and South-South cooperation. Approaching African-Cuban relations from a multiplicity of angles, this collection will appeal to an equally wide range of readers: from scholars in black Atlantic studies to cultural theorists and general readers with an interest in contemporary African history.
