Background: A recent study comparing the effects of a 12-week, low-intensity, supervised exercise program on the health-related quality of life of older adults with chronic conditions. The study was conducted in a community-based setting and involved a randomised controlled trial design. The study was conducted in a community-based setting and involved a randomised controlled trial design. The study was conducted in a community-based setting and involved a randomised controlled trial design.

Abstract and keywords: Abstract: This synthesis of two experiments with young children, aged 3-5 years, examined the effects of gender and narrative structure on children's comprehension of narrative. The results of the experiments suggest that children's comprehension of narrative is affected by gender.
