Disaster Response and Recovery covers the two post disaster stages of the disaster cycle and presents an extensive and cutting edge overview of their many considerations. Organized into two parts: Response and Recovery, this handbook details the history, theories, methods, debates, and emerging issues in the stages of response and recovery. Using a transdisciplinary approach, the myriad topics examined in this handbook include search and rescue, myths related to disaster response, technological methods for response and recovery among vulnerable populations, and the intersection of disasters and mental health. Contributors discuss these issues both globally as well as country and disaster specific. This book is an essential guide and reference not only for scholars engaged in disaster research but also for undergraduate and graduate students, policy makers, disaster managers, international and supranational agencies, and humanitarian and volunteer organizations engaged in disaster management.

Guidance on spatial technologies for disaster risk management in aquaculture Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2018-12-06. This new guide describes the application of spatial technology to improve disaster risk management (DRM) within the aquaculture sector. DRM requires interrelated actions and activities to ensure early warning, prevention, preparedness, response, and recovery for a wide range of natural, technological, and complex disasters that can impact aquaculture operations and livelihoods. Spatial technology refers to systems and tools that acquire, manage, and analyse data that have geographic context. Some of the technologies include satellite remote sensing, aerial surveys, global positioning systems, geographic information systems, information and communication technology, and other data gathering sensors used for instance in meteorology. Spatial technology supports activities across all phases of the DRM cycle, and its rapid development provides enhanced opportunities to support DRM within the aquaculture sector. This guide is organized in two parts. Part one is the guidance; it is the main body of the document and describes the processes and steps for the use of spatial technology within DRM for aquaculture. Part two includes selected country case studies from Bangladesh, the Gulf of Mexico, and the Caribbean, and Indonesia, to illustrate the application of spatial technology in DRM for aquaculture at the national level, within local contexts. Best practices at the farm and area management levels, supported by spatial technology, reduce volatility and risks and thus facilitate investment. Countries that would like aquaculture to grow sustainably and reliably are encouraged to use this guide in order to support spatial planning approaches and protect responsible investors. A separate summary version accompanies this publication.
