The Mononuclear Phagocyte

System in Infectious Disease Geanncarlo Lugo-Villarino, Céline Cougoule, Etienne Meunier, Yoann Rombouts, Christel Vérolet, Luciana Balboa, 2019-10-04

The Mononuclear Phagocyte System MPS of vertebrates is composed of monocytes macrophages and dendritic cells Together they form part of the first line of immune defense against a variety of pathogens bacteria fungi parasites and viruses and thus play an important role in maintaining organism homeostasis The mode of transmission type of replication and mechanism of disease causing differ significantly for each pathogen eliciting a unique immune response in the host Within this context the MPS acts as both the sentinel and tailor of the immune system As sentinels MPS cells are found in blood and within tissues throughout the body to patrol against pathogenic insult The strategy to detect microbial non self relies on MPS to recognize conserved microbial products known as pathogen associated molecular pattern PAMPs PAMPs recognition represents a checkpoint in the response to pathogens and relies on conserved pattern recognition receptors PRRs Upon PRR engagement MPS mount a cell autonomous attack that includes the internalization and compartmentalization of intracellular pathogens into toxic compartments that promote destruction In parallel MPS cells launch an inflammatory response composed of a cellular arm and soluble factors to control extracellular pathogens In cases when innate immunity fails to eliminate the invading microbe MPS serves as a tailor to generate adaptive immunity for pathogen eradication and generation of memory cells thus ensuring enhanced protection against re infection Indeed MPS cell functions comprise the capture process migration and delivery of antigenic information to lymphoid organs where type 1 immunity is tailored against intracellular microbes and type 2 immunity against extracellular pathogens However this potent adaptive immunity is also a double edge sword that can cause aberrant inflammatory disorders like autoimmunity or chronic inflammation For this reason MPS also tailors tolerance immunity against unwanted inflammation Successful clearance of the microbe results in its destruction and proper collection of debris resolution of inflammation and tissue healing for which MPS is essential Reciprocally as part of the evolutionary process taking place in all organisms microbes evolved strategies to circumvent the actions bestowed by MPS cells Multiple pathogens modulate the differentiation maturation and activation programs of the MPS as an efficient strategy to avoid a dedicated immune response Among the most common evasion strategies are the subversion of phagocytosis inhibition of PRR mediated immunity resistance to intracellular killing by reactive oxygen and nitrogen species restriction of phagosome maturation modulation of cellular metabolism and nutrient acquisition regulation of cell death and autophagy and modulation of pro inflammatory responses and hijacking of tolerance mechanisms among others The tenet of this eBook is that a better understanding of MPS in infection will yield insights for development of therapeutics to enhance antimicrobial processes or dampen detrimental inflammation for the host s benefit We believe that contributions to this topic will serve as a platform for discussion and debate about relevant issues and themes in this field Our aim is to bring expert junior and senior scientists to address recent progress highlight critical knowledge gaps foment scientific exchange and establish conceptual frameworks

Oliveira, 2025-11-06

Antitumoral immunotherapies have achieved remarkable results in the treatment of a variety of cancers but there are also limitations such as low response or side effects An effective immune response against cancer requires the appropriate activity and interaction of cellular and molecular mediators involved in the cancer immunity cycle to prevent tumor progression fight against cancer cells and ultimately achieve tumor eradication Nanoparticles have been engineered to improve the delivery of a wide range of immunotherapies including small drugs nucleic acids peptides or antibodies after intravenous administration towards tumor sites but also for other routes of administration with the aim to improve their efficacy and or safety Nanotechnology approaches have been developed and evaluated i to dismantle the immunosuppressive signals in the tumor microenvironment TME ii to activate specific molecular or cellular mediators in the TME iii to improve the transport of antigens toward the appropriate immune cells in the context of cancer vaccines iv to induce immunogenic cell death thus killing cancer cells and activating antitumor immune responses and lately v to improve cell therapies or iv to advance the diagnosis of cancer progression through the tracking or quantification of molecular and cellular immune mediators In the next years new research has the potential to provide exciting results improving tissular and cellular targeting but also applying stimuli responsive nanocarriers i e pH temperature ultrasounds or radiotherapy drug delivery strategies for combination therapies i e chemo immunotherapy or immuno radiosensitizers or other innovative approaches intended to overcome cancer resistance This Research Topic will cover both basic and clinical studies that advance our understanding of using nanotechnology in the field of cancer immunotherapy and will highlight investigations developing and evaluating new diagnostic and or therapeutic nanoparticles with the potential to improve the outcome of patients with cancer

Guests Editors Paola Allavena Mar a Jos Alonso Mar a Jos Oliveira Fernando Torres And n Clement Anfray and the editorial team of Frontiers in Immunology invite submission of original and review articles related to better understanding the use of nanotechnology in cancer immunotherapy providing new approaches from basic to clinical research We welcome manuscripts from the following subtopics
