

High School Musical Monologue

Choose one part to practice and audition for!

SHARPAY: (quietly speaking to Ryan) They must be trying to figure out a way to make sure Troy and Gabriella actually beat us out. (Sharpay and Ryan grimace) The jocks run most of the school, but if they get Troy into the musical then they've conquered the entire student body. And if those science girls set Gabriella up with Troy Bolton, the scholastic club goes from drool to cool. (Sharpay starts panicking) Ryan, we need to save our show from people who don't know the difference between a Tony Award and Tony Hawk!

RYAN: (speaking to Sharpay about the musical) What do part do I want? Gosh, I wouldn't know what to pick.....but I know how it's going to go! (Ryan turns to face Sharpay, acting out the scene he describes) Picture it: me, center stage, a single spotlight.....a huge marquee that reads (Ryan lifts his hands to show off the imaginary marquee) "Ryan Evans, actor, singer, and choreographer extraordinaire"! The audience throws flowers, critics rave about me in the press – and my performance is so amazing that Julliard offers me a full scholarship to their dance program!

Literature, Migration and the 'War on Terror' Fiona Tolan,Stephen Morton,Anastasia Valassopoulos,Robert Spencer,2013-09-13 This is a major new collection of essays on literary and cultural representations of migration and terrorism the cultural impact of 9 11 and the subsequent war on terror The collection commences with analyses of the relationship between migration and terrorism which has been the focus of much mainstream political and media debate since the attacks on America in 2001 and the London bombings in 2005 not least because liberal democratic governments in Europe and North America have invoked such attacks to justify the regulation of migration and the criminalisation of minority groups Responding to the consequent erosion of the liberal democratic rights of the individual leading scholars assess the various ways in which literary texts support and or interrogate the conflation of narratives of transnational migration and perceived terrorist threats to national security This crucial debate is furthered by contrasting analyses of the manner in which novelists from the UK North Africa the US and Palestine have represented 9 11 exploring the event s contexts and ramifications This path breaking study complicates the simplistic narratives of revenge and wronged innocence commonly used to make sense of the attacks and to justify the US response Each novel discussed seeks to interrogate and analyse a discourse typically dominated by consent belligerence and paranoia Together the collected essays suggest the value of literature as an effective critical intervention in the very fraught political aftermath of the war on terror This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of Postcolonial Writing
