Exploring Strategy 9th Edition Case 15:

Multinational Management Rien Segers, 2016-01-29 This casebook demonstrates that the future of global business lies in how well the multinational landscape is charted and how the importance of Asian market leaders is deeply embedded in it. It offers international management students and researchers an extensive guide to the business history, strategy development and foreign market entry modes used by emerging Asian multinationals. The cases focus on well-known companies such as Lenovo, Alibaba, Infosys, Huawei, Panasonic and Rakuten. These companies, all of which generate huge revenues in their own countries (e.g. in China, India, South Korea, Taiwan, Vietnam), are now becoming increasingly sophisticated and striving to become global brands while also enjoying the active support of their governments in terms of their international business. Readers will learn about the current multinational landscape in Asia, the management challenges and the future implications for traditional western companies seeking to retain their market share. Chapters on corporate entrepreneurship, human resource management and intercultural competence and current branding trends in Asia will provide a cutting edge update on international business strategy for students and practitioners alike.

Contributions of Africa's Indigenous Knowledge to the Wave of Digital Technology: Decolonial Perspectives Niyitunga, Eric Blanco, 2024-04-09 Africa's contributions to global technological advancements are often overlooked, with many scholars claiming that the continent has yet to contribute significantly to digital technology. This misconception stems from a need for more understanding and recognition of Africa's indigenous knowledge and its role in shaping the modern world. The education curriculum inherited from colonialism must differentiate Africa's values and culture from Western ideals, leading to a devaluation of Africa's mineral wealth in technological advancements. Additionally, the impact of historical events such as the Atlantic slave trade and colonialism on Africa's indigenous knowledge remains largely unexplored, further contributing to the misunderstanding of Africa's technological contributions.

Contributions of Africa's Indigenous Knowledge to the Wave of Digital Technology: Decolonial Perspectives offers a comprehensive exploration of Africa's indigenous knowledge and its crucial role in the Fourth Industrial Revolution (4IR). By taking a decolonial perspective and examining the literature on African Studies, the book aims to shed light on Africa's significant contributions to digital technology. Through a qualitative research design and an exploratory approach, the book will collect and analyze data from secondary sources to showcase Africa's rich technological advancements and history of innovations.

planning a knowledge strategy It explores the complex relationship between the notions of knowledge and strategy in the business context one that is of practical importance to companies After reviewing the extant literature the book shows how the concept of knowledge strategies can be seen as a new perspective for exploring business strategies It proposes a new approach that clarifies how planned and emergent knowledge strategies allow companies to make projections into the uncertain and unpredictable future that dominates today's economy

The Leadership of Organizational Change Mark Hughes, 2015-10-05 Understanding both leadership and change have been recurrent and popular themes within the business management and organization studies literature However our understanding of leadership and organizational change in combination is far more limited The Leadership of Organizational Change offers a critical review of the evolution of leadership and organizational change for the past thirty five years taking stock of what we know identifying what we do not know and establishing how the study of the leadership of change should advance In the late seventies and early eighties as interest in managing and leading change was fuelled by the competitive threat of Asia in general and Japan in particular as perceived by western businesses and governments Burns 1978 writing in his landmark book Leadership at this time referred to an intellectual crisis The crisis of leadership today is the mediocrity or irresponsibility of so many of the men and women in power but leadership rarely rises to the full need for it The fundamental crisis underlying mediocrity is intellectual If we know all too much about our leaders we know far too little about leadership While the study of managing change has benefitted from sustained critical scrutiny particularly in the last decade it is believed that this is to have been at the expense of critical scrutiny of leading change The Leadership of Organizational Change critically reviews how the study of leading change has advanced since 1978 and the crisis of intellectual mediocrity

Strategic Management in Public Services Organizations Ewan Ferlie, Edoardo Ongaro, 2015-02-20 Strategic Management in Public Services Organizations sets out to connect the two traditionally disparate academic literatures of public management and strategic management The authors argue that some models of strategic management are now of enhanced relevance for contemporary public services organizations especially when considering successive New Public Management reforms This observation has important consequences for the requisite work practices skills and knowledge bases of current public managers as they are increasingly being asked to act as strategic as well as operational managers Strategic Management in Public Services Organizations takes a strongly comparative and international perspective in addressing the fundamental issue of strategic management within diverse public administrative traditions The impact of strategic management on the performance of public agencies is examined and it is argued that the appropriate use of strategic management models depends on the politico administrative and cultural contexts of the public services organization in question concluding that there is no single best way to strategically lead public organisations This is an advanced textbook aimed at the postgraduate level particularly students on MPAs and MBAs with a public sector option or MScs in Public Policy and Public Management
