

Fun Lab #3: The Virtual Dissection of a Cow's Eye*Introduction

In general, light enters the eye through the transparent cornea, and then passes on through the pupil. The pupil has the capacity to change size for the purpose of controlling the amount of light that can enter the eye. Directly behind the pupil is the lens, which bends (refracts) the incoming light rays so they are focused directly on the retina, where the cones and rods transform the photons of light into electrical signals.

The purpose of this lab is to help you locate and identify the most important structures of the eye. The cow eye is much larger than the human eye, but the structures are similar. We will watch a video together of a cow eye dissection. (link)

See how many parts of the eye you can identify in the video. On the outside of the eye, you should be able to see the white of the eye (or sclera) and the clear covering over the front of the eye (the cornea). You should also be able to identify the fat and muscle surrounding the eye.

Now that we've watched the video, please take a few minutes to identify the following features on the outside of the cow's eye by filling in a simple diagram below on the right.
