The Participation Gap Russell J. Dalton,2017-10-13 The dilemma of democracy arises from two contrasting trends More people in the established democracies are participating in civil society activity contacting government officials protesting and using online activism and other creative forms of participation At the same time the importance of social status as an influence on political activity is increasing The democratic principle of the equality of voice is eroding The politically rich are getting richer and the politically needy have less voice This book assembles an unprecedented set of international public opinion surveys to identify the individual institutional and political factors that produce these trends New forms of activity place greater demands on participants raising the importance of social status skills and resources Civil society activity further widens the participation gap New norms of citizenship shift how people participate And generational change and new online forms of activism accentuate this process Effective and representative government requires a participatory citizenry and equal voice and participation trends are undermining these outcomes The Participation Gap both documents the growing participation gap in contemporary democracies and suggests ways that we can better achieve their theoretical ideal of a participatory citizenry and equal voice Merchant Vessels of the United States... Samson,1997-04 Over 50 new puzzles are included ranging in difficulty from beginner to advanced levels From Radio to the Big Screen Hal Erickson,2014-06-11 There was a time when American popular entertainment referred only to radio and motion pictures With the coming of talking pictures Hollywood cashed in on the success of big time network radio by bringing several of the public's favorite broadcast personalities and programs to the screen. The results, though occasionally successful, often proved conclusively that some things are better heard than seen. Concentrating primarily on radio's Golden Age 1926-1962, this lively history discusses the cinematic efforts of airwave stars Rudy Vallee, Amos 'n' Andy, Fred Allen, Joe Penner, Fibber McGee & Molly, Edgar Bergen, Lum Abner, and many more. Also analyzed are the movie versions of such radio series as The Shadow, Dr. Christian, and The Life of Riley. In addition, two recent films starring contemporary radio headliners Howard Stern and Garrison Keillor are given their due.
