The Jean Freeman Gallery Does Not Exist Christopher Howard, 2019-03-01 An examination of a 1970s Conceptual art project advertisements for fictional shows by fictional artists in a fictional gallery that hoodwinked the New York art world From the summer of 1970 to March 1971 advertisements appeared in four leading art magazines Artforum Art in America Arts Magazine and ARTnews for a group show and six solo exhibitions at the Jean Freeman Gallery at 26 West Fifty Seventh Street in the heart of Manhattan s gallery district As gallery goers soon discovered this address did not exist the street numbers went from 16 to 20 to 24 to 28 and neither did the art supposedly exhibited there The ads were promoting fictional shows by fictional artists in a fictional gallery The scheme eventually exposed by a New York Times reporter was concocted by the artist Terry Fugate Wilcox as both work of art and critique of the art world In this book Christopher Howard brings this forgotten Conceptual art project back into view Howard demonstrates that Fugate Wilcox s project was an exceptionally clever embodiment of many important aspects of Conceptualism incisively synthesizing the major aesthetic issues of its time documentation and dematerialization serialism and process text and image publishing and publicity He puts the Jean Freeman Gallery in the context of other magazine based work by Mel Bochner Judy Chicago Yoko Ono and Ed Ruscha and compares the fictional artists projects with actual Earthworks by Walter De Maria Peter Hutchinson Dennis Oppenheim and more Despite the deadpan perfection of the Jean Freeman Gallery project the art establishment marginalized its creator and the project itself was virtually erased from art history Howard corrects these omissions drawing on deep archival research personal interviews and investigation of fine printed clues to shed new light on a New York art world mystery Frederic Church

The Living Wilderness Robert Sterling Yard, 1968 The New York Market for French Art in the Gilded Age, 1867-1893 Leanne M. Zalewski, 2022-12-15 This transatlantic study analyses a missing chapter in the history of art collecting the first art market bubble in the United States In the decades following the Civil War French art monopolized art collections across the United States During this Gilded Age picture rush the commercial art system art dealers galleries auction houses exhibitions museums art journals press coverage art histories and collection catalogues established a strong foothold it has not relinquished to this day In addition a pervasive concern for improving aesthetics and providing the best contemporary art to educate the masses led to the formation not only of private art collections but also of institutions such as the Metropolitan Museum of Art and to the publication of art histories Richly informed by collectors and art dealers diaries letters stock books journals and hitherto neglected art histories The New York Market for French Art in the Gilded Age 1867 1893 offers a fresh perspective on this trailblazing era A Gallery of Modern Art Washington University (Saint Louis, Mo.).
