Elaine: When are you off home to America, Luke?

Luke: I'm going towards the end of November – just in time for Thanksgiving. Thanksgiving is the last Thursday in November.

Elaine: Does the university mind your going?

Luke: No, they're OK about it. It's only for a week anyway. It's my grandparents' 50th wedding anniversary, too, so it's a pretty important time.

Elaine: When's that?

Luke: That's on the 30th of November.

Elaine: Hmm. All that way just for a week. It doesn't sound like fun.

Luke: It's fine, Elaine. It's a really easy journey and I've done it so many times. I don't have a problem, anyway.

Elaine: So will you see all your family at Thanksgiving?

Luke: Sure. Thanksgiving's a family thing in the USA, we always have a big meal together and eat turkey and pumpkin pie.

Elaine: Hmm. I always find those family parties a bit difficult. I usually argue with my brother.

Luke: I don't have any problems like that with my sister, so it's OK. It's only one day, anyway. After that, I go and see my friends.

Elaine: Do you think you'll go back to the US when you finish your course here?

Luke: Well, it'd be to go travelling for a bit. I haven't seen enough of Europe, but then it's probably go home and get a job. Actually, I'm thinking of getting a part-time job here. It'd be to work at weekends and maybe on Friday evenings... maybe in a restaurant.

Elaine: Well – don't come and work at my place. I'm thinking of leaving. I'm just too busy to do my college work.

Luke: What you need is a holiday! Why don't you come to America with me and meet my family?

Elaine: Er... No, I don't think so. Another time, anyway.

EXPLANATION

- 4 1 C We use the present continuous because Mum's talking about a future planned activity.
- 2 C Despite is followed by the -ing form of the verb.
- 3 A We need the first person singular of the verb to be here, because the writer is talking about a current state. So am is the only correct answer.
- 4 B We use the indefinite article a to talk about a singular countable noun with a general meaning.
- 5 A Those refers to the plural noun visits. Some would fit grammatically, but it does not fit logically because the writer is referring back to her visits that took place in the past.
- 6 A We use would to talk about past habits. D is not correct in form. B and C are impossible grammatically (wrong tense).
- 7 B The verb seem is followed by the infinitive with to.
- 8 A We use will to talk about the future when we predict something we are certain about.
- 9 D The verb have is always followed by to when we mean that it's necessary to do something.
- 10 B The writer is imagining how her aunt will react after something else has happened, so has been is the only form that fits grammatically and logically. The answers A and C aren't grammatically possible (even would be possible, but it is not given in the options). C is incorrect because we never use will in subordinate clauses of time.
