THE D.P.A. TYPE FUEL INJECTION PUMP

The D.P.A. type fuel injection pump is mounted on the drive housing assembly which is attached to a machined face on the side of the cylinder block and is driven at half engine speed by the camshaft.

Description

The D.P.A. injection pump may be briefly described as a single element, opposed plunger, inlet metering, distributor type pump. It is relatively simple in design and contains no ball or roller bearings, gears, or highly stressed springs. The number of working parts remains the same, regardless of the number of engine cylinders it serves.

A mechanical governor is embodied in the pump and is completely contained within the pump housing. Fig. 112 shows the pump and mechanical governor, in section. See also Section F.

The pump is a self-contained, oil tight unit, which requires no external lubrication system. Oil pressure, which is maintained inside the pump housing, ensures the adequate lubrication of all the working parts, and prevents the ingress of dust, water or any other foreign matter which could impair the efficiency of the pump. No special lubricating oil is used, as the pump is lubricated entirely by fuel oil.

A single pumping element, having twin opposed plungers, is carried in a central rotating member which also acts as a distributor, the charges of oil being distributed in correct order to the nozzles through the pressure connections arranged round the pump body. The pump plungers operate in a transverse bore in the rotor through the action of
