Theorizing Teaching and Learning in Asia and Europe John Chi-Kin Lee, Kerry J. Kennedy, 2017-03-27 There has been much debate in recent times between the Anglo American tradition of curriculum studies and the Continental and North European tradition of didactics Didaktik As important as such debate has been this book seeks to add new voices to the debate representing ideas and traditions from a different part of the world The focus is on Chinese curriculum thinking that has passed through a number of stages and currently represents a blend of some aspects of the American tradition and Chinese cultural traditions How does Chinese thinking about curriculum teaching and learning resonate with European didactic traditions and what are the implications for theorizing an expanded field of curriculum studies This book deliberately transcends borders and cultures to explore new territory to provide a platform for open dialogue and to open up new areas of investigation Chapters include Curriculum Reform and Research in China A Social Historical Perspective What Mathematics Did Teachers Learn Comparison of the School and the Pre Service Teacher Mathematics Curricula in Germany and Taiwan Living in Parallel Worlds A Transatlantic Dialogue between General Didactics and Instructional Design

Instructional Design Bruce R. Ledford, Phillip J. Sleeman, 2001-04-01 The purpose of this book is to provide a superstructure within which one can design effective and efficient instruction a system in which predictable and validatable learning will occur a system in which one will be able to direct the learner s activities toward a mutual goal in an environment of positive relationships The purpose of this chapter is to provide an over view of the field of instructional technology with specific focus on instructional design The overview is eclectic it presents views commonly held by instructional designers that have been synthesized from the research and literature This book differs from most books on instructional design in that it describes a process that is internally consistent that is it embraces a specific approach which makes it possible and easier for the designer to achieve closure on a process Most books on instructional design describe several processes without adequately providing an opportunity for closure As a result many designers go away confused owning bits and pieces of a process that it is impossible or at least difficult to implement in a coherent fashion The 30-second Encyclopedia of Learning and Performance David H. Miles, 2003 Learning professionals may love those 500 page textbooks but they are not exactly light reading Trainers on the go crave a portable reference packed with bite sized self contained topics conveniently arranged for quick access and adaptable to a myriad of instructional situations They will be thankful for The 30 Second Encyclopedia of Learning and Performance which presents hundreds of terms processes and methodologies in one place Readers can instantly locate any subject in the book then read the brief but thorough entry in 30 seconds to three minutes Or read Part One start to finish for an overview of the performance improvement process then dive back in as necessary The author lists additional books and online sources offers rapid histories of each subject's evolution and its noteworthy gurus and writes in refreshing plain English for rookies and experienced practitioners alike
