We Are Data John Cheney-Lippold, 2017-05-02 Do algorithms get to decide who we are Essential reading for anyone who cares about the internet s extraordinary impact on each of us and on our society Kirkus Reviews starred review Derived from our every search like click and purchase algorithms determine the news we get the ads we see the information accessible to us and even who our friends are These complex configurations not only form knowledge and social relationships in the digital and physical world but also determine who we are and who we can be both on and offline Algorithms create and recreate us using our data to assign and reassign our gender race sexuality and citizenship status They can recognize us as celebrities or mark us as terrorists In this era of ubiquitous surveillance contemporary data collection entails more than gathering information about us Entities like Google Facebook and the NSA also decide what that information means constructing our worlds and the identities we inhabit in the process We have little control over who we algorithmically are Our identities are made useful not for us but for someone else Through a series of entertaining and engaging examples John Cheney Lippold draws on the social constructions of identity to advance a new understanding of our algorithmic identities We Are Data will inspire those who want to wrest back some freedom in our increasingly surveilled and algorithmically constructed world
