Grierson on Documentary John Grierson, 1971

Grierson on Documentary John Grierson, Forsyth Hardy, 1971

John Grierson Gary Evans, 2005-01-01 John Grierson founder of both the British documentary film movement and the National Film Board of Canada was one of the twentieth century's most influential personalities in film culture. He gave the word documentary to the English language. (John) Grierson on documentary [Teils.] John Grierson, 1971 Film and Reform Ian Aitken, 2013-12-13 Best known for his documentaries such as Drifters, North Sea and Housing Problems, John Grierson was the most important figure in the British documentary film movement and one of the most influential of British film theorists. This major assessment of Grierson and the documentary film movement examines the intellectual and aesthetic influences on his work, focusing on the material he produced in the inter-war years and comparing the idealistic strain of Grierson's social commentary with other social reformists such as the Next Five Years Group and writers like Orwell and Priestley. Underlining the link between film and reform, the book clarifies the meaning and significance of Grierson's ideas and the historical role of the documentary film movement. Originally published in 1990. John Grierson and the NFB. John Grierson Project, 1984 John Grierson and the NFB John Grierson and the NFB John Grierson Jack C. Ellis, 2000 More than any other person Jack C. Ellis notes John Grierson a Scot was responsible for the documentary film as it has developed in English speaking countries. While in the United States in the 1920s Grierson first applied the term documentary to Robert Flaherty's Moana. In 1927 Grierson returned to Britain where he was hired to promote the marketing of products of the British Empire. The first practical application of Grierson's theory of documentary film was Drifters, a 1929 short feature about herring fishing in the North Sea. That success led Grierson to establish the Empire Marketing Board Film Unit, later the General Post Office Film Unit. In 1939 Grierson moved to Canada, leaving behind a legacy of some sixty British filmmakers who spread his ideas and techniques to other countries. In Canada he progressed beyond national concerns to global problems. The National Film Board of Canada stands as the largest and most impressive monument to Grierson's concepts and actions in regard to the use of film by governments in communicating with citizens. Ellis examines Grierson's accomplishments in detail, probing the complexities of Grierson's motivations and personality. His subject, a true titan in the world of documentary film, was the first filmmaker to use public and private institutional sponsorship, not the box office, to pay for his films. He also employed nontraditional distribution techniques, going outside the movie theaters to reach audiences in schools and factories, union halls and church basements. Essentially, Grierson created documentary film and established an audience for it. Grierson on documentary, by John Grierson John Grierson, 1966 Grierson on Documentary John Grierson, 1966 Grierson on Documentary John Grierson, 1947 John Grierson Jack C.
