Hurricane Katrina as one of the Most Catastrophic Natural Disasters

Hurricane Katrina was among the most catastrophic natural disasters within the United States history. On August 23, 2005, the tropical storm formed off the coast of the Bahamas. Throughout the next seven days, "the tropical storm grew into a catastrophic hurricane" (Townsend, 2006) first making landfall in Florida, then along the Gulf Coast of Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana, "leaving behind a trail of heartbreaking devastation and human suffering" (Townsend, 2006). Katrina brought astonishing destruction, flooding the historic city of New Orleans, and ultimately killing over 1,300 people.

On August 29, in the early hours of the morning, Americans awoke to reports of Katrina's landfall on the Gulf Coast and watched the events unfold. Viewers watched in amazement at the fierceness of nature which quickly changed to disappointment after seeing the inability for government agencies local, state and federal, to effectively respond to the disaster. Hurricane Katrina "exposed significant flaws in Federal, State and local preparedness for catastrophic events and our capacity to respond to them" (Townsend, 2006). Emergency plans at all levels of government were incompetent at aiding during a time of complete devastation. Millions of Americans were left to protect themselves and their families.

Hurricane Katrina's damage was so extensive. It effected the economy, regional power infrastructure, and communications. Between the months of August and September, the most affected areas of Louisiana and Mississippi saw the unemployment rate increase from 6 to 12 percent. But Hurricane Katrina did not just impact the Gulf Coast, it reached the entire country though the rising prices of gasoline. The storm "forced the temporary shutdown of most crude oil and natural gas production in the Gulf of Mexico" (Townsend, 2006).

Gasoline prices rose dramatically across the nation. The storm completely devastated the regional power infrastructure leaving approximately 2.5 million power outages in Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama. All communication systems suffered as well. Katrina "crippled thirty-eight 11 call centers, disrupting local emergency services, and knocked out more than 3 million customer phone lines" (Townsend, 2006). Those who were stranded were unable to call for help and search and rescue teams had no way of communicating their need for more teams.

Communication systems were rendered useless. But the most terrible damage from Hurricane Katrina was the effect it had on humans. The aftermath of the storm left survivors feeling a mixture of depression, grief and fear. Victims found it difficult to reconstruct their lives. On many occasions, people had left behind basic paperwork such as insurance cards, birth certificates, marriage licenses and other documents that would later prove essential to rebuilding their lives. Many people were left without access to medical records which made it hard to rece

Hurricane Katrina Papers:

Katrina Papers Jerry W. Ward, 2008 Dr Jerry W Ward Jr fuses autobiography politics spirituality history and poetry in a highly inventive and unusual trip through the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina Ward's house and the university campus where he worked as a professor were both flooded in the storm It is from this trauma that Ward scrambles to find hope and sanity in a world ruled by the fact that thousands have been abused by Nature and revenge is impossible Army Support During the Hurricane Katrina Disaster James A. Wombwell, 2009-06-30 The Combat Studies Institute CSI is pleased to announce its latest publication in the Long War Series Occasional Paper 29 Army Support During the Hurricane Katrina Disaster by Mr James A Wombwell In August 2005 Hurricane Katrina made landfall as a Category 3 storm and was the costliest hurricane as well as one of the five deadliest storms in the history of the United States It caused extensive destruction along the Gulf coast from central Florida to Texas The most severe loss of life and property damage occurred in New Orleans Louisiana where the levee system catastrophically failed flooding the city and large tracts of neighboring parishes In preparation for and reaction to the hurricane the United States Northern Command established Joint Task Force Katrina at Camp Shelby Mississippi to act as the Active component's on scene commander Some 22 000 Active Duty personnel eventually assisted with relief and recovery operations in Mississippi and Louisiana At the same time all 50 states the District of Columbia and 3 territories sent approximately 50 000 National Guard personnel to deal with the storm's aftermath These men and women were instrumental in the rescue and relief mission often using their own initiative and resources in the chaotic aftermath of the storm Because the media coverage of this great national disaster tended toward the sensational more than the analytical many important stories remain to be told in a dispassionate manner One such story is the response by US Army personnel both the Active and Reserve components within the broader governmental effort to mitigate the horrific effects of the storm James Wombwell's study offers just such a dispassionate analysis of the Army's response to the natural disaster by providing a detailed account of the operations in Louisiana and Mississippi Much good work was done by the Army team but Wombwell shows that there is still room for improvement Sadly we have not seen the end of natural disasters in the United States ensuring that the US Army once more will be called upon to provide assistance in their aftermath The insights gained from the Army's experience following Hurricane Katrina as delineated in James Wombwell's study will make that future response even more focused and efficient CSI The Past Is Prologue Breach of Faith Jed Horne, 2006-07-11 Hurricane Katrina shredded one of the great cities of the South and as levees failed and the federal relief effort proved lethally incompetent a natural disaster became a man made catastrophe As an editor of New Orleans daily newspaper the Pulitzer Prize winning Times Picayune Jed Horne has had a front row seat to the unfolding drama of the city's collapse into chaos and its continuing struggle to survive As the Big One bore down New Orleanians rich and poor black and white lurched from giddy revelry to mandatory evacuation The thousands who couldn't or wouldn't leave initially congratulated themselves on once again riding out the storm But then the unimaginable happened Within a day 80 percent of the city was under water The rising tides chased horrified men and women into snake filled attics and onto the roofs of their houses Heroes in swamp boats and helicopters braved wind and storm surge to bring survivors to dry ground Mansions and shacks alike were swept away and then a tidal wave of lawlessness inundated the Big Easy Screams and gunshots echoed through the blacked out Superdome Police threw away their badges and joined in the looting Corpses drifted in the streets for days and buildings marinated for weeks in a witches brew of toxic chemicals that when the floodwaters finally were pumped out had turned vast reaches of the city into a ghost town Horne takes readers into the private worlds and inner thoughts of storm victims from all walks of life to weave a tapestry as intricate and vivid as the city itself Politicians thieves nurses urban visionaries grieving mothers entrepreneurs with an eye for quick profit at public expense all of these lives collide in a chronicle that is harrowing angry and often slyly ironic Even before stranded survivors had been plucked from their roofs government officials embarked on a vicious blame game that further snarled the relief operation and bedeviled scientists striving to understand the massive levee failures and build New Orleans a foolproof flood defense As Horne makes clear this shameless politicization set the tone for the ongoing reconstruction effort which has been haunted by racial and class tensions from the start Katrina was a catastrophe deeply rooted in the politics and culture of the city that care forgot and of a nation that forgot to care In Breach of Faith Jed Horne has created a spellbinding epic of one of the worst disasters of our time

Public Papers of the Presidents of the United States United States. President, 2009 Containing the public messages speeches and statements of the President 1956 1992 Public Papers of the Presidents of the United States, George W. Bush United States. President (2001-2009 : Bush), 2003 Media and Mass Atrocity Allan Thompson, 2019-04-05 When human beings are at their worst as they most certainly were in Rwanda during the 1994 genocide the world needs the institutions of journalism and the media to be at their best Sadly in Rwanda the media fell short Media and Mass Atrocity revisits the case of Rwanda but also examines how the nexus between media and mass atrocity has been shaped by the dramatic rise of social media It has been twenty five years since Rwanda slid into the abyss The killings happened in broad daylight but many of us turned away A quarter century later there is still much to learn about the relationship between the media and genocide an issue laid bare by the Rwanda tragedy Media and Mass Atrocity revisits the debate over the role of traditional news media in Rwanda where confronted by the horrors taking place international news media for the most part turned away and at times muddled the story when they did pay attention Hate media outlets in Rwanda played a role in laying the groundwork for genocide and then actively encouraged the extermination campaign The news media not only failed to fully grasp and communicate the genocide but mostly overlooked the war crimes committed during the genocide and in its aftermath by the Rwandan Patriotic Front The global media landscape has been transformed since Rwanda We are now saturated with social media generated as often as not by non journalists Mobile phones are everywhere And in many quarters the traditional news media business model continues to recede Against that backdrop it is more important than ever to examine the nexus between media and mass atrocity The book includes an extensive section on the echoes of Rwanda which looks at the cases of Darfur the Central African Republic Myanmar and South Sudan while the impact of social media as a new actor is examined through chapters on social media use by the Islamic State and in Syria and in other contexts across the developing world It also looks at the aftermath of the genocide the shifting narrative of the genocide itself the evolving debate over the role and impact of hate media in Rwanda the challenge of digitizing archival records of the genocide and the fostering of free and independent media in atrocity s wake The volume also probes how journalists themselves confront mass atrocity and examines the preventive function of media through the use of advanced digital technology as well as radio programming in the Lake Chad Basin and the Democratic Republic of Congo Media and Mass Atrocity questions what the lessons of Rwanda mean now in an age of communications so dramatically influenced by social media and the relative decline of traditional news media Papers

Managing Hurricane Katrina Arjen Boin,Christer Brown,James A. Richardson,2019-05-07 The government s response to Hurricane Katrina one of the most devastating natural disasters in U S history suffered numerous criticisms Nearly every assessment pointed to failure from evaluations of President George W Bush FEMA and the Department of Homeland Security to the state of Louisiana and the city administration of New Orleans In Managing Hurricane Katrina Lessons from a Megacrisis Arjen Boin Christer Brown and James A Richardson deliver a more nuanced examination of the storm s aftermath than the ones anchored in public memory and identify aspects of management that offer more positive examples of leadership than bureaucratic and media reports indicated Katrina may be the most extensively studied disaster to date but the authors argue that many academic conclusions are inaccurate or contradictory when examined in concert Drawing on insights from crisis and disaster management studies Boin Brown and Richardson apply a clear framework to objectively analyze the actions of various officials and organizations during and after Katrina They specify critical factors that determine the successes and failures of a societal response to catastrophes and demonstrate how to utilize their framework in future superdisasters Going beyond previous assessments Managing Hurricane Katrina reconsiders the role of government in both preparing for a megacrisis

Stranded Assets and the Environment Ben Caldecott, 2018-05-11 Drawing on the work of leading researchers and practitioners from a range of disciplines including economic geography economics economic history finance law and public policy this edited collection provides a comprehensive assessment of stranded assets and the environment covering the fundamental issues and debates including climate change and societal responses to environmental change as well as its origins and theoretical basis The volume provides much needed clarity as the discourse on stranded assets gathers further momentum. In addition to drawing on scholarly contributions, there are chapters from practitioners and analysts to provide a range of critical perspectives. While chapters have been written as important standalone contributions, the book is intended to systematically take the reader through the key dimensions of stranded assets as a topic of research, inquiry, and practice. The work adopts a broad-based social science perspective for setting out what stranded assets are, why they are relevant, and how they might inform the decision making of firms, investors, policymakers, and regulators. The topic of stranded assets is inherently multi-disciplinary, cross-sectoral, and multi-jurisdictional, and the volume reflects this diversity. This book will be of great relevance to scholars, practitioners, and policymakers with an interest in, include economics, business, and development studies, climate policy, and environmental studies in general.
