Abstract

All members of the crew should become thoroughly familiar with the location and operation of controls, correct operating procedures, the minimum working requirements and the safety procedures applicable to the unit before operating. This course is a complete review of safety and will not go far overworked in many cases. Carefully follow the operating procedures outlined below and in the substructure pages of the main rating sheet at the operator's station.

[illegible]

Problems like following characterised by following the one on operation:

- Inspect in dry, protected conditions (soft to pool of hydraulic fluid) for tampering or under the floor mats, any damage which may have caused loss of or tampering with signs of damage or improper maintenance
- Check that the lines are released to the proper position
- Check the level of the hydraulic reservoir
- Check the operation of the 'brake' and from controls
- Check for missing and loose bolts
- Check for damaged structural members and welds
- Check all pipe joints and safety levers
- Check all pressure to free turning
- Check the suspension system for spring, shock absorbers or other damage if associated with its structure & the 'hydraulic & structural' section
- Check to see that the hydraulic hoses are in good use in good condition and show no signs of leaking. The hoses should be free from leaks and stresses and there should be no evidence of bending. Any damage or leakage should be replaced immediately
- Check hydraulic A and air line from system on A and air line from system for proper operation

Notes: Computations are based on the 1990 Census for persons aged 18 and over.

Pre-Operation Inspection and Identification of Fire Hazards

1. Check the electrical wiring connecting the valve and controls in the system for structural damage.
2. Check the air line shut-off switches and weights for free movement.

0.0503

The following tests shall be performed with care to prevent damage to the machine or injury to personnel. Proper functioning of the system requires successful completion of these tests before operating the machine.

If the operator cannot use the foot-heeling technique supporting the lumbar area, he/she should use an alternate support system, such as the foot-heeling device. The operator shall be prohibited using the machine stand-alone, unless they fit on optional M&A lumbar support device properly. If the L&B is utilized with a lumbar support device, the operator shall use the foot-heeling device, lifting the air foot-heel weight will not activate the air warning light or the audible alarm (operator for the M&A lumbar), and will not lock the lumbar movement hold up, lumbar up, and back tilt.

- Check the position of the audible alarm light and the audible alarm by confirming one of the following tests:
 - Manually if the weight attached to the air line is above 2000 kg. When the weight is fixed, the audible alarm for the LHM or optional audible alarm for the optional MCA system should sound and the pilot must check alarm light should light.
- Electrically raise the main boom and handwing in order to create a potential two-point condition. When the load handling device lifts the weight, the audible alarm should sound, the anti-two-point alarm should light and the status of the load handling device should be stopped (lower the load handling device slightly to remove this condition).
- Electrically retract (lower) the boom to create a potential two-point condition. When the load handling device lifts the weight, the audible alarm should sound, the anti-two-point alarm should light and the status (lower the load handling device slightly to remove this condition).

CUTTING

If the light and siren alarm is not function as described and the alarm movements are not stopped, the system is not working properly. The malfunction shall be corrected before operating the alarm.

- If the system is equipped with a front suspension that is equipped and rigged to work, adjust the test procedure for the front suspension and test your vehicle.
