Special Advocates in the Adversarial System John Jackson, 2019-07-24 The last twenty years have seen an unprecedented rise in the use of secret courts or closed material proceedings largely brought about in response to the need to protect intelligence sources in the fight against terrorism This has called into question the commitment of legal systems to long cherished principles of adversarial justice and due process Foremost among the measures designed to minimise the prejudice caused to parties who have been excluded from such proceedings has been the use of special advocates who are given access to sensitive national security material and can make representations to the court on behalf of excluded parties Special advocates are now deployed across a range of administrative civil and criminal proceedings in many common law jurisdictions including the UK Canada New Zealand Hong Kong and Australia This book analyses the professional services special advocates offer across a range of different types of closed proceedings Drawing on extensive interviews with special advocates and with lawyers and judges who have worked with them the book examines the manner in which special advocates are appointed and supported how their position differs from that of ordinary counsel within the adversarial system and the challenges they face in the work that they do Comparisons are made between different special advocate systems and with other models of security cleared counsel including that used in the United States to consider what changes might be made to strengthen their adversarial role in closed proceedings In making an assessment of the future of special advocacy the book argues that there is a need to reconceptualise the unique role that special advocates play in the administration of justice

Power and Legitimacy Peter L. Lindseth, 2010 The implications of European integration for national democracy and constitutionalism are well known Nevertheless as the events of the last decade made clear the EU's complex system of governance has been unable to achieve a democratic or constitutional legitimacy in its own right In Power and Legitimacy: Reconciling Europe and the Nation State Peter L Lindseth traces the roots of this paradox to integration's dependence on the postwar constitutional settlement of administrative governance on the national level Supranational policymaking has relied on various forms of oversight from national constitutional bodies following models that were first developed in the administrative state and then translated into the European context These national oversight mechanisms executive legislative and judicial have over the last half century developed to address the central disconnect in the integration process between the need for supranational regulatory power on the one hand and the persistence of national constitutional legitimacy on the other In defining the ways European public law has sought to reconcile these two conflicting demands Professor Lindseth lays the foundation for a better understanding of the administrative not constitutional nature of European governance going forward

Constitutional implications of the Cabinet manual Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Political and Constitutional Reform Committee, 2011-03-29 Whilst welcoming the motivation behind the Manual and the transparency it brings to the workings of Government the Committee says that in practice the Manual may be treated as having greater authority than originally intended particularly where its content extends beyond matters purely for the Executive All the work of the Executive including the Cabinet Manual is subject to scrutiny by Parliament The fact that the document is primarily directed at the Executive does not exempt it from this scrutiny The Committee makes some practical suggestions for specific improvements to the text focusing particularly on the chapters covering government formation and ministers and Parliament The Committee also challenges some of the specific content of the draft the failure to include the convention acknowledged elsewhere by the Government that Parliament should have the opportunity to debate decisions to commit troops to armed conflict guidance on when a Prime Minister should resign following a hung Parliament The Committee recommends that the House should hold a regular debate on the Manual The Committee felt despite dissatisfaction with parts of the original draft there was no reason to delay production of an approved version The new version need not be perfect as it will be subject to further review

DWP's Commissioning Strategy and the Flexible New Deal Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons. Work and Pensions Committee,2009 The design and delivery of employment programmes are critical to the success of welfare reform and fundamental to the Government's aspiration of an 80 per cent employment rate The new Flexible New Deal FND programme will be part of the revised JSA regime and will be delivered by large prime contractors who will work with subcontractors at a subregional level Prime contractors will be given longer contracts and have greater autonomy to design individualised support for customers who have been unemployed for more than 12 months The Committee welcomes the move towards longer contracts and endorses the principles of the FND programme and was impressed by the work that Jobcentre Plus staff are undertaking to prepare for the introduction of the new regime Yet there are significant concerns that fundamental flaws exist in the design of FND and the assumptions on which it is based The Department for Work and Pensions DWP accepts that on flows onto FND could be 300 per cent higher than first indicated with implications for resources at the providers and possible delays in implementing FND in some areas The Committee urges DWP to confirm that changes will be made to the budget to reflect the massive increase in predicted onflows to FND It might not be possible for providers to meet the targets on which contractor payments are principally based and the Committee received evidence to suggest that the financial model for FND is flawed and its targets unrealistic It is crucial that DWP and other departments ensure that collaborative working with City Strategies local authorities and other local Partners is facilitated at all levels if joint commissioning is to become a reality

The Operation of the Special Immigration Appeals Commission (SIAC) and the Use of Special Advocates Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons. Constitutional Affairs Committee,2005 operation of the Special Immigration Appeals Commission SIAC and the use of special Advocates Seventh report of session 2004-05 Vol 2 Oral and written Evidence Parliamentary Papers Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons,1981 Ministry of Defence Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Committee of Public Accounts,2010-03-29 Since October 2001 565 service men and women have been seriously injured in Iraq and Afghanistan some 125 000 troops based there have sought medical help for minor injuries and illnesses and a further 1 700 for mental health conditions Nearly all seriously injured troops who return back to the UK for medical treatment go first to the NHS hospital at Selly Oak and then to Headley Court for rehabilitation The care of the seriously injured to date has been highly effective and support for the families of seriously injured troops is good The main challenge the Department faces should casualties increase significantly is to ensure that all military patients will receive the same standard of care they currently experience at Selly Oak and Headley Court Some soldiers have suffered severe life changing injuries and will require specialist care for many years This presents a further long term challenge not only for the Department who provide specialist care for them and support for their families while they remain in the Services but also for the NHS and other government departments who will become responsible for the medical care and support of seriously injured soldiers after they leave the Armed Forces Minor injury and illness are a lesser issue but still have the potential to impact on the fighting strength and morale of our Armed Forces in Afghanistan and the increase in rates from 4 to 7 per cent since 2006 is of concern

House of Commons - Transport Committee: Access to Transport For Disabled People - Volume I: HC 116 Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Transport Committee,2013-09-17 In the UK some 11.5m people already live with a recognised disability and more than a fifth of them experience some difficulty when using transport networks So it is essential that the Department for Transport delivers an ambitious Accessibility Action Plan Changes made ahead of the 2012 Paralympic Games delivered access for disabled people to significantly more parts of the public transport network for the first time and highlighted the immense value of such improvements for all Yet a year later there is a risk that some of the momentum from London 2012 is being lost because further key accessibility improvements planned have been watered down or abandoned The Committee's recommendations include imposing penalties on bus operators who claim to offer accessible routes but then fail to provide accessible buses the phased introduction of audio visual information systems on all buses over the next ten years phasing out the need for disabled travellers having to book organised assistance in advance financial incentives to encourage investment in fully accessible vehicles by taxi and private care hire vehicle operators and a change to EU rules so that in future airlines are required to allow carers to travel free of charge when the airline judges a disabled person incapable of travelling independently The Cabinet Office should convene a working group of ministers and officials to improve cross government working on accessibility in order to secure the full benefits to be gained from widening disabled people's access to employment and training healthcare and wider participation in all parts of society Embedding sustainable development across Government, after the Secretary of State's announcement on the future of the Sustainable Development Commission Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Environmental Audit Committee,2011-01-10 Funding of the Sustainable Development Commission SDC will cease at the end of March 2011 and Defra's capability and presence to improve the sustainability of Government will be increased Whilst regretting the Government's decision to stop funding the SDC the Committee sees an opportunity to reassess and revitalise the architecture for delivering sustainable development The experience of SDC's work within Government departments to improve their sustainability skills and performance is at risk of being lost so the Government must ensure that this knowledge and expertise is absorbed by departments Sustainable development needs to be driven from the centre of Government by a Minister and department with Whitehall wide influence They must be capable of holding all departments to account for their sustainable development performance The Committee does not think Defra is best placed to lead this drive and recommends that the Cabinet Office assume this role And the Treasury could use its position to continue to develop sustainability reporting by departments strengthen the system of impact assessments and the Green Book investment appraisal methodology for policy making and embed the results of the Government Economic Service review of the economics of sustainability and environmental valuation into those impact assessments and appraisals Greater political leadership from the top should be brought to bear The Government must introduce a full set of indicators to measure sustainable development that can be used to develop policy and must provide a new strategic underpinning for its commitment to sustainable development as an overarching goal of Government policy making Ofwat price review 2009 Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Environment, Food and Rural Affairs Committee,2009-07-24 A report in which the Committee calls on the Department for Environment Food and Rural Affairs Defra to review Ofwat's entire remit so that the regulatory regime will keep pace with the changes set to follow from greater competition and the challenge posed by scarcer water resources Constitutional processes following a general election Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Justice Committee,2010-03-29 Constitutional processes following a general Election Fifth report of session 2009-10 report together with formal minutes oral and written Evidence DFID Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Committee of Public Accounts,2012-02-03 The DFID's transfer programmes deliver cash food and assets such as livestock directly to people living in poverty Transfers can be used to tackle a range of issues such as hunger and malnutrition or access to health and education services in a variety of contexts In 2010-11 the Department spent 192 million on social protection programmes which includes its transfer programmes The evidence heard suggests transfer programmes are effective in targeting aid and ensuring the money goes directly to the poorest and most vulnerable people It is therefore surprising that the use of transfer programmes has not increased The Department only plans to support transfer programmes in 17 of its 28 priority countries It does not have an overall strategy for the use of transfers and its decisions on where to support transfer programmes look reactive The decision as to whether or not to propose a transfer programme is taken by staff working in the country and it is not clear why there are extensive programmes in some countries and none in others The Department does not collect data on all the costs of the transfer programmes it supports and the Department is therefore unable to say whether it is lifting more people out of poverty for every pound spent on transfers compared to other programmes The Department's long term objective is for the governments of recipient countries to take on the responsibility of owning and funding transfers as part of a sustainable social security system However the Department has not been clear about how individual programmes will be sustained

Bibliographic Guide to Music New York Public Library. Music Division,1982 Global security Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Foreign Affairs Committee,2007-11-25 This report from the Foreign Affairs Committee examines the issue of global security in respect of Russia It sets out 40 conclusions and recommendations covering the following areas democracy and human rights the bilateral UK Russia relationship energy security EU Russia relations European security issues international security issues Specific recommendations from the Committee include that the UK should continue to press its concerns about democratic and human rights standards with the Russian authorities that the Government should continue to offer assistance to Russia in the preparation of extradition requests to the UK and in the development of the country's judicial system further that the Government invites its Russian counterpart to renegotiate extradition arrangements between Russia and the UK the Committee also recommends that the Government make the development of a united and coherent EU Russia policy an explicit goal of its work in the EU in 2008 also that the Government work to bring closer together the Western and Russian assessments of the Iranian nuclear threat

Preparations for the roll-out of smart meters Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Committee of Public Accounts,2012-01-17 Under European Directives all member states are required to install intelligent metering systems smart meters to at least 80% of domestic electricity consumers by 2020 The UK Government has opted for a more challenging programme with plans for energy suppliers to install smart electricity and gas meters in all homes and smaller non domestic premises in Great Britain by 2019 The Department estimates that the smart meters programme will cost some 11.7 billion This large complex programme requires replacing around 53 million gas and electricity meters with significant uncertainties over the estimated costs and benefits involved Installation costs will be borne by consumers through their energy bills but many of the benefits accrue in the first instance to energy suppliers No transparent mechanism presently exists for ensuring savings to the supplier are passed on to consumers and the track record of energy companies to date does not inspire confidence that this will happen There remain significant uncertainties in a number of key areas in the programme and the Department needs to address these by conducting proper trials to identify and manage the risks associated with an IT project involving such a substantial amount of money which is financed by individuals as consumers The Department needs to ensure that the vulnerable those on low incomes and those who use

prepayment meters also benefit from smart meters It would be unacceptable if these consumers bore the costs of smart meters through higher charges without getting a share of the potential benefits

The Strategic Defence and Security Review Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Defence Committee,2010-09-15 On 7 July 2009 the Ministry of Defence announced its plan for a Strategic Defence Review to follow the 2010 General Election The predecessor Defence Committee reported its views on the proposed Review in its fourth report of session 2009 10 HC 53 ISBN 9780215543912 The current Defence Committee supports the recommendation in that report that the Review be broadened in scope in order to set the country s defence needs in a stronger foreign and security policy context It is however recognised that the inclusion of broadly defined security concerns within the Review risks the dilution of the defence contribution Immediate or short term security issues and threats might dominate the Review to the exclusion of the medium to long term defence assessments made by the MoD The Government s need to tackle the deficit is understood yet there is concern at the possible consequences of the MoD s budget not being ring fenced for the future unlike those of the DFID and Department of Health The capacity of the country even to sustain current in use capabilities and therefore current operations could well be put at risk by the proposed cuts of between 10% and 20% This report looks at these risks and the specific issues including those of public consultation and the speed at which the Review process is being undertaken involved

Plug-in Vehicles, Plugged in Policy? Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Transport Committee,2012-09-20 Consumer demand for plug in vehicles remains very low and the Government grant to encourage demand may not be proving effective The Government must do more to show that its plug in vehicle strategy is a good use of public money Carbon emissions from transport must be reduced if the UK is to meet its climate change targets but public money must be targeted on effective policies So far Department for Transport expenditure on plug in cars some 11 million has benefited just a handful of motorists There is a risk that the Government is basically subsidising second cars for affluent households It is also unclear whether the provision of public charging infrastructure encourages demand for plug in cars Indeed the Government does not even have a register of all the chargepoints installed at public expense

House of Commons - Foreign Affairs Committee: The UK's Relations with Saudi Arabia and Bahrain - HC 88 Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Foreign Affairs Committee,2013-11-22 Saudi Arabia and Bahrain remain key partners for the UK but relations are complicated by the differences between our societies and the pressing need for reform in the Gulf Historic warm relations between the UK government and the leaders of Saudi Arabia and Bahrain are not mirrored in public opinion in Saudi Arabia and the UK and the UK s reputation in Bahrain has also suffered since 2011 The Government must make its public profile and reputation a more central part of its work in the Gulf consider how it can best support much needed economic and political reforms and how it can explain its policies and point to specific achievements when speaking to the public at home and in the Gulf In Saudi Arabia the Government must convert its promising steps so far in providing assistance on legal and judicial reform into solid and reportable programmes

In Bahrain it must work to secure access for NGOs and the UN Special Rapporteur on Torture and press more strongly for swifter implementation of reforms Saudi Arabia's role as a key buyer for the UK defence industry is controversial but the report finds little to suggest that ending defence sales from the UK would have any positive effect The aggressive way in which the Bahraini security forces handled events in 2011 has deeply damaged Bahrain's reputation The recommendations of the Bahrain Independent Commission of Inquiry BICI were sensible and the Bahraini government's failure fully to implement them is inexplicable
