Baader,K.U. Schulz,2013-11-09 Donation refusal is high in all the regions of Argentina The deficient operative structure is a negative reality that allows inadequate donor maintenance and organ procurement In more developed regions there are a high number of organs which are not utilized This is true for heart liver and lungs Small waiting lists for these organs probably reflect an inadequate economic coverage for these organ transplant activities There is a long waiting list for cadaveric kidney transplants which reflect poor procurement and transplant activity Lack of awareness by many physicians leads to the denouncing of brain deaths In spite of these factors we can say that there has been a significant growth in organ procurement and transplantation in 1993 after the regionalization of the INCUCAI Conclusions Is there a shortage of organs in Argentina There may be But the situation in Argentina differs from that in Europe as we have a pool of organs which are not utilized donation refusal operational deficits lack of denouncing of brain deaths Perhaps in the future when we are able to make good use of all the organs submitted for transplantation we will be able to say objectively whether the number of organs is sufficient or not Acknowledgements I would like to thank the University of Lyon and the Merieux Foundation especially Professors Traeger Touraine and Dr Dupuy for the honour of being invited to talk about the issue of organ procurement

Neotropical Birds of Prey David F Whitacre, 2013-03-01 Until recently surprisingly little has been known about the biology and behavior of tropical forest raptors including such basic aspects as diets breeding biology habitat requirements and population ecology information critical to the development of conservation efforts The Peregrine Fund conducted a significant eight year long research program on the raptor species including owls in Tikal National Park in Guatemala to learn more about Neotropical birds of prey Impressive and unprecedented in scale this pioneering research also involved the development of new methods for detecting enumerating and studying these magnificent but often elusive birds in their forest home Beautifully illustrated with photographs of previously little known species the resulting book is the most important single source for information on the lowland tropical forest raptor species found in Central America

Neotropical Birds of Prey covers twenty specific species in depth including the Ornate Hawk Eagle the Barred Forest Falcon the Bat Falcon and the Mexican Wood Owl offering thorough synopses of all current knowledge regarding breeding biology and behavior diet habitat use and spatial needs Contributors to this landmark work also show how the populations fit together as a community with overlapping habitat and prey needs that can put them in competition with reptiles and mammalian carnivores as well yet differ from one another in their nesting or feeding behaviors and population dynamics The work's substantive original data offer interesting comparisons between tropical and temperate zone species and provide a basis for establishing conservation measures based on firsthand research Making available for the first time new data on the biology ecology behavior and conservation of the majestic owls and raptors of the New World tropics this book will appeal to a wide ornithological readership especially the many raptor enthusiasts around the world
