Porfilio,2012-10-29 In an era when corporate and political leaders are using their power to control every aspect of the schooling process in North America there has been surprisingly little research on the impact of textbook content on students

The contributors of this volume and its partner The New Politics of the Textbook: Problematizing the Portrayal of Marginalized Groups in Textbooks guide educators, school administrators, academics, and other concerned citizens to unpack the political, social, and cultural influences inherent in the textbooks of core content areas such as math, science, English, and social science. They urge readers to reconsider the role textbooks play in the creation of students' political, social, and moral development and in perpetuating asymmetrical social and economic relationships where social actors are bestowed unearned privileges and entitlements based upon their race, gender, sexuality, class, religion, and linguistic background. Finally, they suggest ways to resist the hegemony of those texts through critical analyses, critical questioning, and critical pedagogies.

Teaching towards Democracy with Postmodern and Popular Culture Texts Patricia Paugh, Tricia Kress, Robert Lake, 2014-11-26. This edited volume supports implementation of a critical literacy of popular culture for new times. It explores popular and media texts that are meaningful to youth and their lives. It questions how these texts position youth as literate social practitioners. Based on theories of Critical and New Literacies that encourage questioning of social norms, the chapters challenge an audience of teachers, teacher educators, and literacy-focused scholars in higher education to creatively integrate popular and media texts into their curriculum. Focal texts include science fiction, dystopian, and other youth central novels; picture books that disrupt traditional narratives; graphic novels; video games; other arts-based texts; film; novel hybrids; and even the lives of youth readers themselves as texts that offer rich possibilities for transformative literacy. Syllabi and concrete examples of classroom practices have been included by each chapter author.

World War II Gr. 7-8 Donita Covey, 1995. Divided into two main sections: vocabulary research and literature writing, and subdivided into four sections: vocabulary research using non-fiction; specific novel activities and writing activities. Other contents include teacher suggestions, an annotated bibliography of novels, list of books, songs, and movies of the war years; a list of useful addresses; and a marking sheet. 62 activities, 129 pages.
