Critical Pedagogy for Social Justice John Smyth,2011-10-20 We live in a time when those who wield unrestrained power believe they have the inalienable right to determine the destiny nature and shape of social institutions like schools Critical

Pedagogy for Social Justice challenges this arrogance by showing how teachers students parents communities and researchers can develop narratives that amount to working with and for those who are increasingly being silenced marginalized and excluded John Smyth sets out to revisit critical pedagogy from a number of key leverage points The overarching aim of this book is to unmask the deforming and distorting way power operates while at the same time revealing how a commitment to a more socially just world can exist in the everyday lives and narratives of people who have a passion for transformative possibilities His clear concise and persuasive book is ideal for those who are dissatisfied with the current turn in education and who are seeking an alternative set of views that emerge from the grounded experiences and practices of schools struggling with the most disadvantaged circumstances

Productive Uncertainty in Science Education Eve Manz, 2025 Science is driven by the need to manage uncertainty uncertainty about how to explain the world but also how to represent the world in an investigation what to measure and how to convince peers to see what the scientist wants them to see For children uncertainty supports engagement with materials more purposeful science practice and deeper conceptual understanding yet classroom investigations typically reflect little of the uncertainty that scientists grapple with How can we move past cookbook science investigations and provide the support that teachers and students need for this more complex work This book introduces a framework describing specific forms of science activity shares stories of children engaging with uncertainty and provides practical supports to help K 12 teachers deepen their science teaching practice The text includes tools for building classroom norms planning and adapting investigations leading discussions and designing student sheets and other forms of support The framework tools and examples are drawn from research conducted in partnership with elementary teachers and instructional leaders and have been applied in secondary science classrooms as well Book Features A new way of building engagement and supporting science practice through centering uncertainty an essential human and scientific experience Inspiring examples of students engaging in science practices developed with teacher collaborators A suite of tools to support the design adaptation and implementation of rich investigations for the science classroom Sample classroom dialogue showing how teachers can facilitate student discussions that foster and build from uncertainty

Gender-responsive approaches to the acceptability, availability and affordability of alcohol. Brief 11 World Health Organization, 2024-03-07 Gender related norms persist in our societies including in the consumption of alcohol Despite knowing that men and women consume alcohol differently and are affected by its harm differently alcohol control policies remain essentially gender blind Highly gendered approaches to alcohol marketing and gender differences in patterns of alcohol consumption and its associated harm are well documented Relatively little evidence has examined the different effects of population level alcohol control policies on different genders and even less has addressed how gender intersects with socioeconomic status age ethnicity and other factors Experiences from countries illustrate gendered approaches being used by the alcohol industry Brazil and the United States and the innovative ways that governments and civil society organizations are tackling the gendered effects of alcohol consumption This includes promoting employment outside the alcohol industry United Republic of Tanzania developing gender specific supports for alcohol consumption Pakistan and Scotland mobilizing civil society to enforce marketing bans Sri Lanka and creating culturally sensitive and culturally embedded policies Aotearoa New Zealand There is a clear need for policy relevant research that supports an increased understanding of what works for gender responsive approaches to reduce the harm caused by alcohol consumption

Food of the Future: Meat and Dairy Alternatives Antti Knaapila, Sghaier Chriki, Fang Fang, Jean-François Hocquette, Marie-Pierre Ellies-Oury, James Ledo, 2024-03-05 Recent years have seen an increase in discussion around the impact of our dietary choices not only on personal health but on global issues such as food security and climate change Much focus has been placed on eating a plant based diet and eschewing animal sourced foods with vegetarian and vegan options becoming far more abundant across grocery stores and in restaurants But as we look to the future what other sources and types of food could help foster health for both people and the planet

The Two-Headed Household Sarah Hamilton, 2010-11-23 The Two Headed Household is an ethnographic account of gender relations and intrahousehold decisionmaking as well as a policy oriented study of gender and development in the indigenous Andean community of Chanchalo Ecuador Hamilton s main argument is that the households in these farming communities are two headed Men and women participate equally in agricultural production and management in household decisionmaking and share in the reproductive tasks of child care food preparation and other chores Based on qualitative fieldwork and regional household survey data this book investigates the effect on women s lives of gender bias in agricultural development programs and labor and commodities markets Despite household economic reliance on these programs and markets there is extraordinary evidence of social and economic gender equality Traditional Andean kinship structures enable women and men to enter marriage as materially equal partners As seen in case studies of five women and their families the author continually encounters joint decisionmaking and shared household and agricultural responsibilities In fact it often seems that women have the final say in many decisions There is the belief that a dynamic balance of power between male and female heads provides an impetus toward mutually desired economic and social goals Despite the strong influence of the patriarchal power of the hacienda system Andean gender ideology accords women and men equal measures of physical mental and emotional fortitude The belief that maintaining traditional forms of economic collaboration helped them survive on the hacienda was reinforced under the economic and political domination of the patriarchal systems of the landed elite church and state Today these people are proud of their strong women strong families and community solidarity which they believe distinguishes them from Ecuadorean and American societies Hamilton suggests that women in developing countries should not be viewed as simply or even inevitably victims of gender biased structural or cultural institutions They may resist male bias perhaps even with the support of local level institutions The Two Headed Household demonstrates that analysis of gender relations should focus on forms of cooperation among women and men as well as on forms of conflict and will be of interest to scholars and students in anthropology gender and development and Latin American Studies
