The Great God Pan was widely denounced by the press as degenerate and horrific because of its decadent style and sexual content, although it has since garnered a reputation as a classic of horror. H. P. Lovecraft praised the story, saying, "No one could begin to describe the cumulative suspense and ultimate horror with which every paragraph abounds; he added that the sensitive reader reaches the end with an appreciative shudder." Lovecraft also noted, however, that melodrama is undeniably present and coincidence is stretched to a length which appears absurd upon analysis. Bennett Cerf described the story as a masterpiece. The Three Impostors is an episodic novel incorporating several weird stories, including The Novel of the White Powder and The Novel of the Black Seal, and culminates in a final denouement of deadly horror connected with a secret society devoted to debauched pagan rites. The three impostors of the title are members of this society who weave a web of deception in the streets of London, relating the aforementioned weird tales in the process as they search for a missing Roman coin commemorating an infamous orgy by the Emperor Tiberius and close in on their prey, the young man with spectacles. The White People is a fantasy horror book. A discussion between two men on the nature of evil leads one of them to reveal a mysterious Green Book he possesses. It is often described as one of the greatest of all horror stories.

Arthur Machen (1863-1947) was a Welsh author and mystic of the 1890s and early 20th century. He is best known for his influential supernatural fantasy and horror fiction.
