(Liton)

Kamruzzaman,2019-04-30 The concept of sustainable urban development has been pushed to the forefront of policymaking and politics as the world wakes up to the impacts of climate change and the destructive effects of the Anthropocene Climate change has emerged to be one of the biggest challenges faced by our planet today threatening both built and natural systems with long term consequences which may be irreversible While there is a vast body of literature on sustainability and sustainable urban development there is currently limited focus on how to cohesively bring together the vital issues of the planning development and management of sustainable cities Moreover it has been widely stated that current practices and lifestyles cannot continue if we are to leave a healthy living planet to not only the next generation but also to the generations beyond The current global school strikes for climate action known as Fridays for Future evidences this The book advocates the view that the focus needs to rest on ways in which our cities and industries can become green enough to avoid urban ecocide This book fills a gap in the literature by bringing together issues related to the planning development and management of cities and focusing on a triple bottom line approach to sustainability Bond Pricing and Yield Curve

Modeling Riccardo Rebonato,2018-06-07 Rebonato provides an authoritative clear and up to date explanation of the cutting edge innovations in affine modeling for government bonds and provides readers with the precise tools to develop their own models This book combines precise theory with up to date empirical evidence to build with the minimum mathematical sophistication required for the task a critical understanding of what drives the government bond market Knowledge and Change in African Universities Michael Cross,amasa ndofirepi,2017-01-28 Besides the ongoing concern with the epistemological and theoretical hegemony of the West in African academic practice the book aims at understanding how knowledge is produced and controlled through the interplay of the politics of knowledge and current intellectual discourses in universities in Africa In this regard the book calls for African universities to relocate from the position of object to subject in order to gain a form of liberated epistemological voice more responsive to the social and economic complexities of the continent In itself this is a critical expos of contemporary practices in knowledge advancement in the continent Broadly the book addresses the following questions How can African universities reinvent knowledge production and dissemination in the face of the dominant Eurocentricism so pervasive and characteristic of academic practice in Africa to enhance their relevance to the contexts in which they operate How can such change particularly at knowledge production and distribution levels be undertaken without falling into an intellectual and discursive ghettoization in the global context What then is the role of academics policy makers and curriculum and program designers in dealing with biases and distortions to integrate policies knowledge and pedagogy that reflect current cultural diversity both local and global Against this backdrop while some contributions in this book argue that emancipatory epistemic voice in African universities is not yet born or it is struggling with little success many dissenting voices charge that if Africans do not take responsibility and construct knowledge strategies for their own emancipation who will
