badly taught in schools and misrepresented in popular discourse math Computers are of course brilliant at totting up sums pattern seeking and performing mindless tasks of well computation For all things calculation machines reign supreme But Junaid identifies seven areas of intelligence where humans can retain a crucial edge And in exploring these areas he opens up a fascinating world where we can develop our uniquely human mathematical talents Just a few of the fascinating subjects covered in MATHEMATICAL INTELLIGENCE include Humans are endowed with a natural sense of numbers that is based on approximation rather than precise calculation Our in built estimation skills complement the precision of computers Interpreting the real world depends on both What sets humans apart from other animals is language and abstraction We have an extraordinary ability to create powerful representations of knowledge more diverse than the binary language of computers Mathematics confers the most robust logical framework for establishing permanent truths Reasoning shields us from the dubious claims of pure pattern recognition systems All mathematical truths are derived from a starting set of assumptions or axioms Unlike computers humans have the freedom to break free of convention and examine the logical consequences of our choices Mathematics rewards our imagination with fascinating and on occasion applicable concepts that originate from breaking the rules Computers can be tasked to solve a range of problems but which problems are worth the effort Questioning is as vital to our repertoire of thinking skills as problem solving itself
